

Ed Frank Retires (Finally) Thursday

By FRANK LAPIERRE

It now appears that Edward Frank actually will relinquish his desk to his longtime subordinate, David Rowe, tomorrow as planned. Frank has sat behind that desk for some nine years as City Manager of Daly City.

Frank's retirement has been the subject of much debate by politicians, city employees and just plain folks. Most still cannot believe he is really stepping down.

"After all," an old-time city employee commented on hearing the official announcement, "he's been talking about retirement since he arrived here in 1960!"

The truth is, Frank has been pre-occupied with retiring since 1925 when he broke the good news to his professor at Stanford University.

But instead of following through with his promise to retire, Frank went to work for the San Francisco-based Yellow Cab Company — vowing to "one day retire."

Less than two years later, Frank's dream came true and he retired!

It wasn't because he wanted to retire, it seems the Great Depression was on and a lot of people were off — payrolls, that is!

The year 1935 found Frank attending Columbia University, working towards his Masters and holding down an assortment of jobs in various New York City hotels. He worked his way up to the envied post of Beverage Steward at the famed Lexington Hotel, explaining to one and all "this job is only temporary until I retire."

Several years, and numerous beverage cases later, Ed decided to become a high school instructor in Warren, Ohio. Still later he returned to California to instruct junior college students in Porterville.

With the motto "I shall retire" frozen on his purple lips, Ed headed for Turlock, and the post of head coach and Director of Physical Education in 1943.

He tackled Turlock's parks and recreation department in 1947 and two years later took over the City Administrator's desk.

Over the years as Turlock's athletic department head, Ed developed his wrists to amazing proportions and was known as the "Black Belt of Wristdom" in that part of the state.

He decided to expand this title and accepted the challenge offered by the World's Champion Wrist Wrestling meet in Petaluma (????).

While in training for the meet in 1952, he became city manager of Petaluma.

Although meeting defeat at every turn of the wrist, Ed refused to give up and entered battle at the same time retaining his city manager's post to support his profession — wrist wrestler extraordinary.

But the years of pushing pencils had taken their toll and Ed (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

PLANS MARRIAGE

'Miss Pacifica' Gives Up Title

Lila Hughes, winner of the "Miss Pacifica" Pageant last April, "forfeited her crown" on the eve of the San Mateo County Fair this week, and pageant officials named Gigi Clark, first runner-up in the pageant, as her successor. She represented Pacifica last night at the Fiesta opening.

Miss Hughes has moved to San Francisco and plans to be married in the immediate future, according to "Miss Pacifica" Pageant Director Stan Vander Hule.

Vander Hule said the beauty queen informed pageant officials of her plans on Sunday.

She is presently employed as a receptionist for a San Francisco firm.

Miss Hughes, a Terra Nova High School graduate, is engaged to marry Jerry Rubino, a San Francisco native and student at San Francisco State College, according to Vander Hule.

Final Map Changes

Action Is Delayed Again On Wander Inn Land Rezoning

Pacific councilmen again postponed action on the long-pending rezoning of the Wander Inn property Monday because of changes made in the final map presented by developer Kurt Heath.

By a 3-1 vote, councilmen ordered the map of the proposed rezoning to be returned to the planning commission for reappraisal.

The motion to delay action on the proposed rezoning, entered by Councilman Harland Minshew, also instructed City Attorney John Sherman to meet with the developer's attorneys to "work out technical details" of the proposed agreement.

Councilman Rick Wallis voted against the motion to return the matter to the planning commission, after stating he would "like to resolve this matter tonight, and I see no reason why we can't."

Councilmen refused to approve the rezoning Monday because of disagreement over the location of a future freeway right-of-way through the 21-acre site and because of the developer's "second thoughts" about an occupancy agreement binding development of the apartment complex to completion of the proposed convention center.

Council members have repeatedly stressed their concern over the possibility that the apartments would be built and the commercial aspects of the project abandoned.

Under the initial ordinance introduced two weeks ago, the developer would be denied occupancy of the apartments until work began on the 600-seat convention center.

Mayor Nick Gust said the city is "flexible" on the specific arrangements for guaranteeing development of the convention center, "but we must be assured that it will be built."

Heath suggested that his firm acquire a completion bond to guarantee development of the commercial aspects of the development.

He said he has encountered difficulties in obtaining financing for the project because of the occupancy agreement.

On the matter of the freeway right-of-way, Heath said that "even the Division of Highways is still uncertain about the exact location of the future highway."

Nielsen surrendered himself to authorities at the courthouse July 15, and revealed that he is now married to the mother of the alleged victim in the case.

According to his attorney, Gerald Schneider, Nielsen married the former Paulette Santino July 8 in Reno, eight days after the death of the child.

On July 1, Nielsen, who was baby-sitting with the child at the Santino residence in San Bruno, reported to police that he placed her in a bath at 1:15 p.m., went downstairs to look for tools, and found her dead when he returned to remove her from the bath 15 minutes later.

The child's mother testified Friday that Nielsen had frequently bathed the three-year-old in the past.

Among the witnesses appearing at the preliminary hearing was Deputy San Bruno Fire Chief Leland Moore, who testified that the child appeared dead when he arrived at the scene shortly after Nielsen notified police July 1.

County pathologists who performed an autopsy upon the victim also testified during the hearing before visiting Municipal Judge Robert Connors.

Parking Meters For Mission St.

New Devices On 2 Blocks In Daly City

The Daly City council Monday approved installation of parking meters in a two-block stretch along Mission Street over the vehement objections of councilman Edward J. Dennis and a score of merchants and property owners in the area.

Dennis called the parking meter proposal "premature" and said the supply and demand for meters in that particular two-block section of Mission Street "doesn't merit them."

Instead, Dennis and other opponents of the meters recommended police strictly enforce the present two-hour limit on parking in the 6800 and 6900 blocks as a means of "keeping the traffic moving."

The veteran councilman went on to explain that the purpose of meters is to prevent people from "lingering" in any one area — sometimes for the entire day.

"There is ample parking in that area and I don't see installing meters just to get nickles and dimes from the people," Dennis said.

A motion by Dennis to shelve the matter until a re-study could be made died for lack of a second.

One of the first public opponents to speak against the meters was landowner Ricco Lagomarsino who expressed "amusement" over the comments made by both previous speakers and the council.

Lagomarsino cautioned the councilman on installation of the meters, informing them business in that section of Mission had fallen off considerably in recent months.

The prominent North County landowner said he has his own

SAN BRUNO PARK Congregation Of Teen-agers Said Declining

By WILL E. THOMAS

Those teen-agers who have been congregating in San Bruno City Park, disturbing nearby residents and abusing other Hap Beckner Shelter users seem to be decreasing in numbers since the City Council two weeks ago established a 6 p.m. closing time for the grove.

The move, in the wake of citizen complaint, seemed to shift the center of noisy activity, Councilman George Corey and mayor pro tem Karney Barberian pointed out Monday night, to less secluded areas of the park.

At first, Corey explained, the numbers continued high, but in the last two or three days, the numbers of so-called undesirable frequenting and disturbing other users of the park facilities have dwindled.

Discussion on the topic resumed when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell asked Councilman what was "being done" about City Park.

The couple described an afternoon walk through the park area last Thursday, where the young people from outside the community have been gathering, playing "loud" rock music, which neighbors complained about, staging impromptu "love-ins," openly drinking beer and wine, and assertedly passing narcotics freely.

"The police department appears to be doing a very good job," Councilman Corey said, "especially in using their own discretion."

Barberian admitted the conduct of the young people — who do not live in San Bruno — in the park is a "very large" problem, but he thought the city was making "every bit of effort" to cope with the situation.

The blaze, described as "very hot," apparently started at the rear of the Edwards home, which Edwards reportedly built

'Cluster' Duplex Complex Approved

By DON GRIERSON

South San Francisco planning commissioners Monday reversed their decision of two months ago, and approved a use permit for a duplex "cluster" development at the northerly end of Camaritas Avenue.

In approving the use permit for nine duplex buildings on the 1.3-acre site, commissioners overruled the recommendations of City Planner Daniel Pass and most of the city's major department heads.

The vote Monday was four-to-two, with Commissioners Gordon Boblitt and Frank Rosati voting against approval of the use permit. Commissioner John Gardner was absent.

When the application was first submitted to the commission, it was denied by a vote of four-to-three.

Applicant William Bottell appealed the earlier denial to the council, and the planning commission decision was upheld, though councilmen advised the applicant to revise plans and reapply for a use permit.

According to Pass, the plans presented Monday were identical to those turned down by the commission during the earlier hearing.

In his recommendation to the commission and during an appearance before the council, Pass maintained that approval for construction of more than

Bruno Girl Is Injured In Accident

A 17-year-old San Bruno girl suffered multiple injuries on Monday night in San Mateo when the car in which she was riding went out of control and ramed into a tree.

Police said that Cynthia L. Barnell, 62 Linden, suffered a concussion, lacerations of the tongue, chin and finger and knee injuries in the mishap. She was riding in a car driven by Dennis J. Pandolfi, 19, 472 Maple, San Bruno, at about 11:30 p.m. when the accident occurred on the 200 block of Portola.

Pandolfi, who was not seriously hurt, said he was unable to negotiate a turn in the road and struck the tree at 290 Portola at about 45 miles per hour. About 20 feet of fence was also torn out at 290 Portola. Miss Barnell and the driver were taken to Mills Memorial Hospital where she was reported to be in fair condition today. Pandolfi was treated and released.

2 Managers In Daly City

David Rowe was officially named as Daly City City manager by a unanimous vote of the council Monday night, replacing retiring city manager Edward Frank.

But because of a technicality in Frank's actual retirement date Daly City will have two city managers for the next six weeks.

At the conclusion of Monday night's meeting Frank said his "goodbyes" and noted that his wife Willie, was sitting in the audience.

"During my eight and a half year stay in Petaluma, she attended one meeting — and that was because a friend of hers was meeting with the council. And during my nine years with Daly City, this is the first time my wife has attended any of our meetings," Frank noted.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyett asked the council to "please make a motion for a new city manager — which is, of course, David Rowe."

methods for figuring out the state of businesses in the area: he counts garbage pails.

"I figure by the present amount of garbage cans in that area, business is off about 60 per cent," Lagomarsino explained.

He went on to blast the Mission Merchants Association for not informing him and other members of meetings held in recent weeks on the meter matter.

And Lagomarsino did not think the public should be taxed for parking in the street. He said meters should be installed to keep traffic circulating — not as a revenue producing measure.

"If revenue is the purpose of these meters, then I think you should install them in front of everyone's home in Daly City," he said.

In concluding his lengthy opposition to the meters, Lagomarsino said the proposal was "unfair and unjust" and accused the council of "forcing your opinions on the people" in the matter. And he took a swipe study sessions to work out a formula on the matter of the highway easement, and the final formula agreed to stipulate that all of the property west of the future highway would be zoned for planned development," he said.

While agreeing that the proposed freeway route will likely "fluctuate," Heath said he did not feel an area which might not be affected by the freeway should be "left dormant."

City Attorney John Sherman argued against zoning of an area which might be required for freeway development on grounds that the commercial zoning might increase the value of the property to be condemned under "eminent domain" proceedings.

"This would represent an added expense for the taxpayers," Sherman said.

He said a route through the center of the property is "considered more likely than the route bordering the site and depicted on the developer's maps."

Planning commissioners are expected to reconsider the application for rezoning next week, and councilmen agreed to take up the matter at their next meeting.

The proposed development has been under consideration for more than two years.

Edward Eastman was re-appointed for another one year term to the County Economic Opportunity Commission by the Daly City Council during its regular meeting Monday night.

packed his well-worn cardboard suitcase and headed for Daly City on March 1, 1960.

The Old City Hall was on Wellington in those days, the population was less than 42,000 and the budget was set at $1,321,825.

Thanks to City Manager Frank's guidance the city budget now tops $6,656,470 and the population has climbed to some 65,233 people.

(Tax rate figures were not available at the time of publication, but an informed source said the tax rate had also increased substantially.)

Since his initial meeting with the Daly City Council nine years ago (at which time he informed that body "I intend to retire someday") Ed has divided his 24-hour day into such diverse city business as: construction of the new $3 million civic center (3 hours), new city businesses (3 hours), important city, county, state, regional, federal and BARTD meetings (6 hours) and listening to complaints and sob stories of councilmen, city staff, employees, the public and the press (13 hours).

Sunday is "family day" and Ed reserves the hour between 9-10 a.m. for quiet relaxation at home with his understanding wife of 47 years, Willie. From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. he listens to complaints on his home phone, and the rest of the day (until 6 p.m.) he manages to talk briefly with his four grandchildren, son Michael and daughter Jean.

And somewhere along the line, he squeezes in time to attend meetings of the International City Manager's Association, Rotary Club, Masonic and Shrine Clubs, Commonwealth Club and the Turlock Sportsman's Club, of which he is director and vice president.

This year Frank found he had a spare 20 minutes to kill and dashed on down to the Conference of International City Managers' Association in time to pick up an award for Service and Achievement in the Advancement of Municipal Administration.

Daly City has had its ups and downs under Frank's administration:

Last year city employees (except fire and police) walked off the job for two weeks in a dispute over pay and fringe benefits: Eastmoor Avenue decided to drop away; ABAG was a disappointment to many — except Thomas Truax who thought the Association was worth a million (and managed to grab $510,000 of that amount); BARTD caused 75 miles of Excedrin headaches; the county broke its promises to establish more services in Daly City; water pollution experts zapped the city on its magnificent garbage dump near Mussle Rock because they claimed it was polluting the shoreline (not true); and, the Power of the Petitions have made themselves felt during Ed's nine years.

On the other side of the coin: Frank has seen the city grow—and prosper — with such projects as the huge Serramonte housing tract; the Serramonte shopping center; Dunn-Edwards Paint Company — the world's largest; several new water pump stations; new recreational facilities; a new Civic Center and War Memorial Buildings; expanded city services to the public and the additional people to handle them; two park clubhouses; expanded city limits through annexations (Serramonte, a small part of Colma, Bayshore, etc.); BARTD and the General Plan.

Space prohibits all city projects undertaken during Frank's stay, but you can believe they were many.

There will be an awful lot of folks who will regret seeing Edward Frank leave City Hall.

We will miss him. But we certainly will not miss those wretched cigars he chomps on at all hours. It is no fun being cooped up in a conference room with Frank puffing on one of his cheap stogies and giving everyone within a one-mile radius lung cancer.

'Bye, Edward.

himself many years ago. The fire was discovered by Orem, who called for firefighting units.

Police patrolman Frank Young was the first person to respond to the 11:44 p.m. call, and even at that time the house was engulfed in flames.

Officer Young said flames "had already broken through the rooftop and were bounding up both sides of the house" when he arrived.

Fire officials described the scene similarly. "It was going real good when we got there," one of the firemen acknowledged.

When Young arrived, Orem said he thought Edwards was still in the house, possibly in the kitchen area.

Fire department rescue teams entered the house numerous times, finally locating Edwards, lying face down near the kitchen stove, his entire body extensively charred, authorities said.

Orem later told Patrolman Young that he had failed in several attempts of his own to reach Edwards, who, after being awakened by Orem, had decided to check the blaze himself.

Orem said he had returned to

Council Rejects D.C. Rest Home

A planning commission recommendation for approval of a variance which would permit establishment of a small "rest home" in Daly City was overturned by the city council Monday.

In a unanimous decision, the council denied a variance for a rest home at 212 Mariposa Avenue filed by Jaime Martinez.

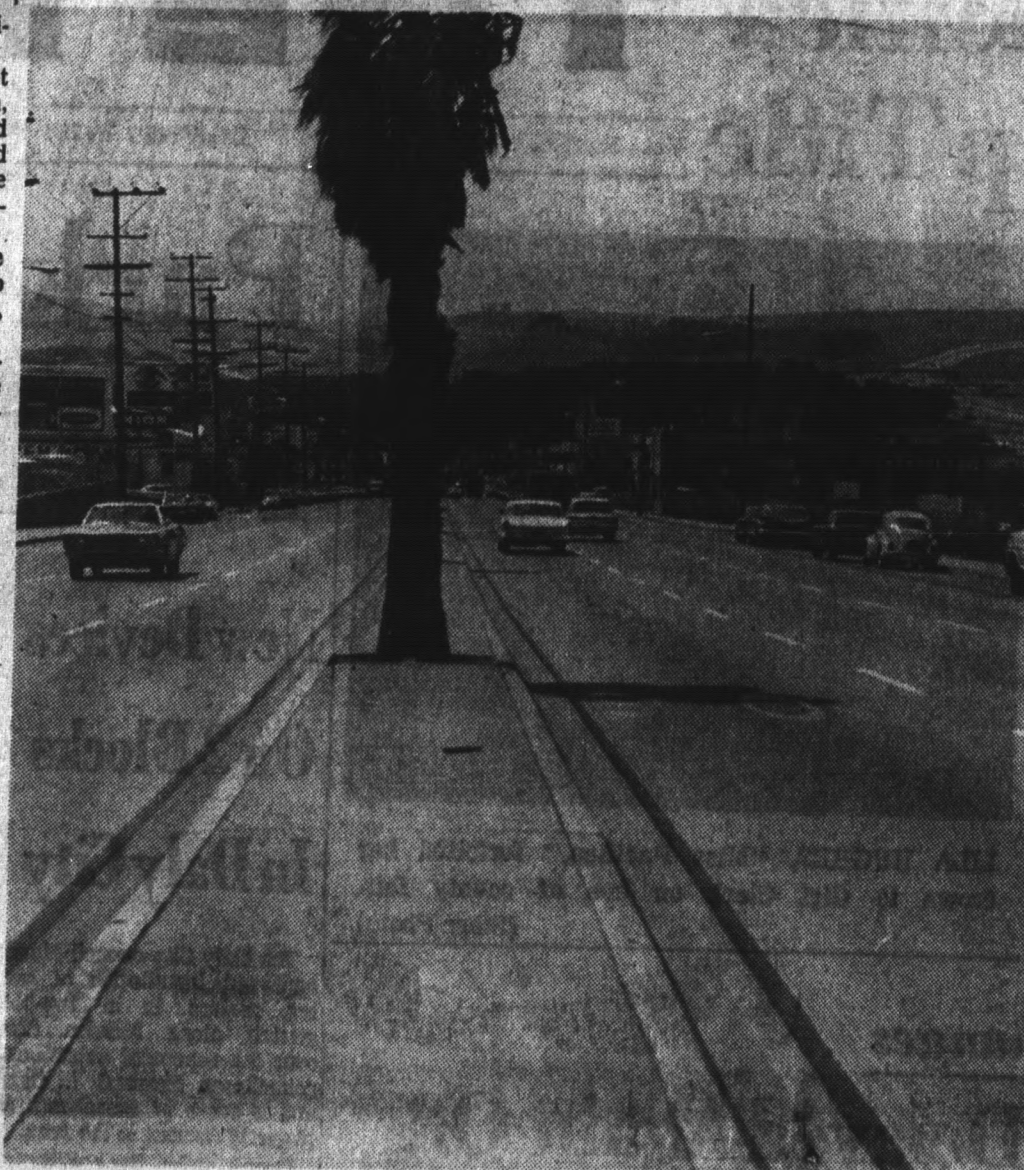

The same request had earlier been approved by the city planning commission.

Howard J. Garden, vice-president of the Westlake Improvement Association, repeated his opposition to the rest home and informed the council that a petition signed by some 65 residents of the area had been placed in the record during planning commission hearings on the matter.

Garden said the rest home—designed for four people or less — was not in keeping with the house at about 11 p.m., after visiting friends in San Francisco for two or three hours during the evening.

Checking the smell of smoke, Orem said, he saw "moderate" flames and smoke. He immediately went to Edwards' nearby bedroom, awakened him and called firemen.

THIS POST photo, taken shortly after 10:30 a.m. on a weekday, shows the portion of the two blocks of Mission Street in Daly City where parking meters are to be installed, a move to be taken on a split vote of the city council.

Cities Form New Transit Committee

A committee of six city officials was named at the Friday meeting of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors to needs of the county.

Mayor Samuel H. Halsted of Portola Valley, who proposed the committee, emphasized the committee was being named in no way to plan for a rapid transit system for the county, but as there is bound to be a system some day "we want a voice in it."

Halsted pointed out that San Francisco has already solved the problem of rapid transit to the San Francisco International Airport and said that San Mateo County cities should be prepared to aid in future solutions. "It appears the initiative has been taken away from us," Halsted asserted.

Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City objected to Halsted's proposal of putting three members of the former West Bay Rapid Transit board on the new committee on the grounds citizens had overwhelmingly defeated a bus system proposal by the former transit district.

"I would favor a fresh approach," Lycett asserted. "The former board said an access to the airport couldn't be done. Now San Francisco has come up with an access to the airport."

"One of the problems here appears to be a misunderstanding of what we are trying to do," Mayor R. D. Martin of Burlingame, president of the mayors' council, said, "all we are trying to do is to form a caretaker group and see where we are going from here. We are not trying to form a rapid transit district."

The only vote against formation of the committee came from Mayor Lewis Grassberger of Millbrae.

over the cliff, until she awoke in a hospital several hours later.

After the girl fell, one of her companions telephoned police to rescue her from the beach.

Pacificia Police Officer Edward Burton said he found the girl nude and unconscious upon the beach when he arrived at the scene about 1:50 a.m. Mikkelsen was also nude, he said.

According to the officer, the alleged rape was in progress when he arrived.

The girl testified Friday that she and her companions approached Mikkelsen near the Pacific Manor Shopping Center earlier in the evening, and asked him to buy wine "because he looked older."

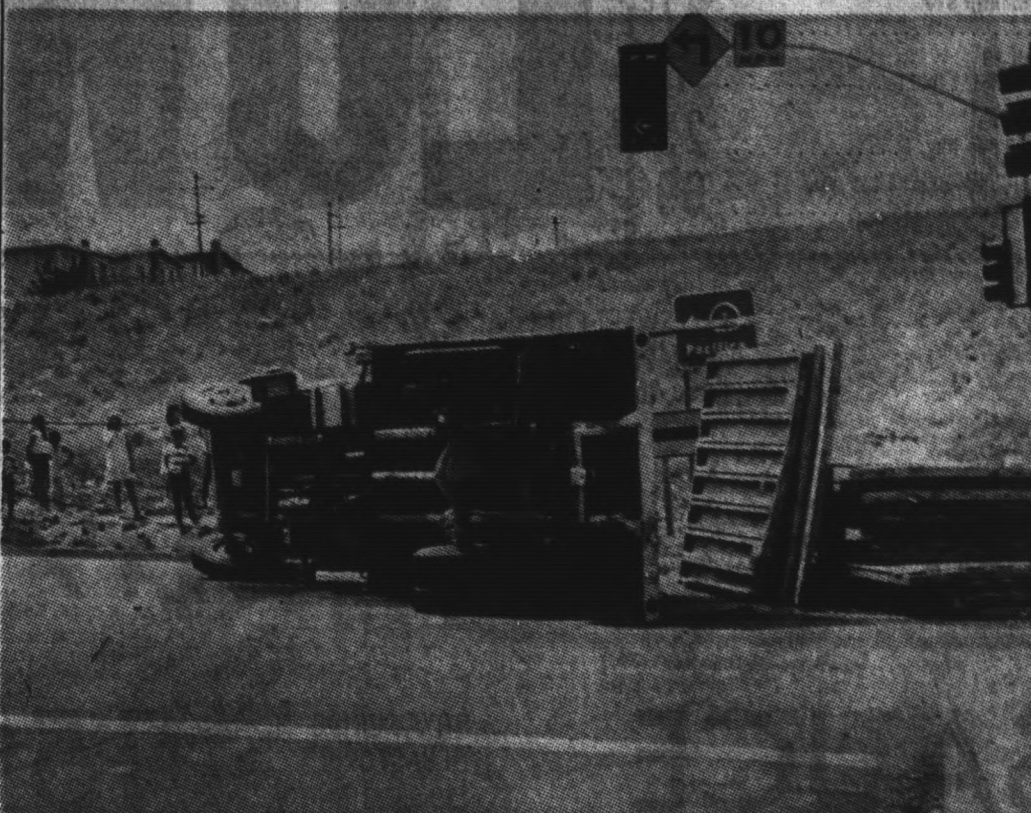

She said she was intoxicated prior to the accident and the alleged rape.

Priorities For Area Highways Told

A list of priority state highway projects in San Mateo County, including extension of Nineteenth Avenue Freeway in San Mateo to the west to eliminate the signal at Norfolk Street, was approved Thursday by the county Greater Highways Committee.

The priority list will be submitted to the State Chamber of Commerce at a hearing in Redwood City in October with the request that it be recommended to the California Highway Commission for 1971-72 budgeting.

Completion of the Nineteenth Avenue Freeway interchange at Bayshore Freeway to its ultimate design and extension of the freeway beyond Norfolk Street to a point seven-tenths of a mile west of Foster City Boulevard was included on the list at the request of City Councilman John J. Murray of San Mateo. He said the project is urgently needed because there have been many accidents on the stretch west of Bayshore.

Other projects given top priority by the committee: Coast Freeway, from the Edgemar Freeway-Skyline Boulevard intersection to St. Francis Boulevard in Daly City; construction to multi-lane freeway standards; from Pacifica to Montara (Devil's Slide bypass); construct two lanes of ultimate future freeway.

Skyline Boulevard, from Ralston Avenue to Cahill Ridge, widened to four lane conventional highway; from Sharp Park Road to College Drive in San Bruno, widened to four lanes, including channelization and six signals.

El Camino Real, from Orange Avenue in South San Francisco northward, reconstruct to six-lane major city street standards, giving priority to projects where local cooperation is offered.

Nineteenth Avenue Freeway, from Skyline Boulevard to Cahill Highway in Half Moon Bay, construct two lanes of future freeway.

Bayshore Freeway — complete Ralston Avenue interchange.

change in Belmont to ultimate design; widen to eight lanes, wood City to south county line; make special studies for correcting congestion at all existing interchanges and at Hillside Boulevard-Butler Road in South San Francisco.

San Bruno Freeway — from Bayshore Freeway to El Camino Real, including San Bruno interchange and main entrance to International Airport, construct to multi-lane freeway standards; from Junipero Serra Freeway to Coast Freeway in Pacifica, construct to multi-lane freeway standards.

CAMP EAGLE, Vietnam — Army Specialist Five Joseph D. Rajeski, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Rajeski, 761 Miller, South San Francisco, received the Bronze Star Medal June 18 at Camp Eagle, Vietnam.

Spec. 5 Rajeski was presented the award for meritorious service in ground operations against hostile forces in Vietnam.

At the time of the presentation, he was a supply specialist in Headquarters Company, 5th Transportation Battalion of the 101st Airborne Division (Airmobile).

His wife, Roberta, lives at 748 Larch Avenue, South San Francisco.

Coast Rape Suspect In Court

A young San Francisco man charged with raping a 17-year-old as she lay unconscious on a Pacifica beach July 12 was ordered held to answer in Superior Court at a preliminary hearing in North County Municipal Court Friday.

Robert Mikkelsen, 22, a refrigeration mechanic, was ordered to appear in Superior Court in Redwood City August 11 to answer a charge of committing rape upon an unconscious person.

Mikkelsen was allowed to remain free on the same $1,000 bail posted after his initial arraignment on the charges.

The alleged victim in the case, a young San Bruno girl, testified Friday that she and six young men were drinking wine above the cliff behind the 300 block of Esplanade Avenue when she fell over the 75-foot cliff about 1:30 a.m.

The girl said she "didn't remember anything" after falling

ANOTHER REASON FOR COMPLETION of the Cabrillo Freeway occurred Thursday when this dump truck, driven by Gerald Kole, 35, of 2841 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno, tried to negotiate the sharp curve on St. Francis Boulevard and tipped over on its side. No one was injured and Kole drove off after a tow truck righted his vehicle.

Chamber Study

The Daly City Chamber of Commerce has sent out to its membership a preliminary draft resolution regarding campus disorders and how to handle them.

Chamber Mgr. Peter J. Markovich asked members for their opinions on the draft resolution in order to consolidate or delete certain sections.

The resolution was brought about by continued disruption and disorders on school campuses which have made it all but impossible for the proper academic processes and climate to prevail.

In some cases students, officials, law enforcement officers and private citizens have suffered injury in the disorders.

It was also pointed out that such situations have imposed an unjustifiable financial burden on the taxpayers.

"These disorders and disturbances... have been agitated and led by a small minority of radicals who seek the destruction of the entire educational system..." the draft explained.

But the "silent majority" of students, although in sympathy with the stated goals of change and reform, are not in favor of the violent upheaval that has occurred, according to the resolution.

The chamber resolved to endorse and support the position of the State Chamber of Commerce for clear-cut rules on how to handle the problem on campuses where such regulations do not presently exist.

And they further recommended that the laws be "firmly enforced" and the disruption of educational processes not be tolerated.

THE ROBERT LAYTONS (Laurie Brandt)

BILLIE JUNE HATCHETT, MICHAEL COMER

Robert W. Layton, Laurie Brandt Married In S.F.

Newly married are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wayne Layton, who exchanged vows recently at Grace Lutheran Church, in San Francisco. The bride is the former Laurie Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Brandt of Daly City, and is a graduate of Westmoor High School. The benedict, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Layton, of Tacoma, Wash., attended high school in Chehalis, Washington. The young couple met while they were students at Washington State University, where both were graduated this June.

Traveling from Washington to take part in the wedding were organist Jane Kippes; soloist, Marjorie Hathaway; Jennie Schatz, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Bonita Johns, Laurie Roming, and Sue Siverling, all Kappa Delta Sorority sisters of the bride.

The bridegroom's younger sister, Wendy Layton, of Tacoma, completed the bridal party.

Best man was Larry Shaw, of Seattle, with ushering duties handled by Tom Layton, Pete Butkus, and Allan Roches, all of Washington, and by Laurie's younger brother, Mike Brandt of Daly City.

The bride's dress was of silk taffeta and lace, fashioned with full train. She wore a cathedral veil.

The young couple greeted family and guests at a reception in the Church Hall. The newly-weds honeymooned in Carmel, and have now taken residence in Hartford, Conn.

Family Forum

South S.F. Pair's Troth Told

A family dinner this month at the Clear Lake Highlands summer home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hatchett of South San Francisco was the occasion for the couple to announce the engagement of their daughter, Billie June, to Michael Paul Comer. The couple will be married September 27 at the Aldersgate United Methodist Church.

The future bride was graduated from South San Francisco High School. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. David Hughes of South San Francisco.

Michael is the son of Mrs. Mary Lee Comer of South San Francisco. He attended El Camino High School and the College of San Mateo and is in the Navy reserve.

The Rev. Gilbert Vierra will officiate at the noon ceremony. Billie has asked Linda Seybold to be her honor attendant and the bridesmaids will be Kathy Althoff, Ellen Minucciani, Barbara Pascone, Brenda Hughes, cousin of the bride-elect, and Paulette Jarvis. Flower girl will be another cousin, Michele Harron, and the ring bearer will be David Neal.

Tom Kennedy will stand with the bridegroom as best man, and guests will be seated by Kenneth Boston, Peter Drier, and Walker Von Hoffe, and Mark Brock, and Tom Brown, cousins of the future bridegroom.

A reception will follow at Russo's.

Teachers who teach and don't preach are the favorites of Candy Sousa, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sousa, and one of Westmoor High School's outstanding graduates for 1969.

The ability to develop a mature sort of relationship with students is not always easy for teachers to acquire but according to Candy her favorite teacher, James Potts, was one of those exceptional persons who could make his students feel their personal value as individuals.

"He took an interest in the students. Made you want to learn and the class was treated like adults," Candy explained when speaking of her algebra, trigonometry and geometry teacher.

High school was a busy period for Candy for she maintained a busy schedule of outside activities while keeping her grades high enough to qualify her for membership in the California Scholarship Federation for four years.

She was an active Girl Scout for twelve years, a candy stripper at the San Francisco General Hospital for three years, a member of the Emporium High Board during her junior year and a member of the H. Liebes Teen Board in her senior year. She was on the Seventeen National Fashion Council during her junior and senior year and she was named the outstanding girl in the senior class. Candy was the chairman of the student-faculty football game and the lights committee, a rally commissioner and the vice president of the Mercian Teen Club at Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church.

During her spare time, Candy sews many of her own clothes, practices the piano and goes horseback riding. For the summer she will take one week to relax at Lake Tahoe and then work to make money for college in the fall.

September will find her enrolled at the University of California at Davis where she will major in pre-veterinary medicine. Her long range goal is to have her own practice as a veterinarian for her chief interests are animals and science.

While she is looking forward to college she sees the larger arena as a threat to her individuality.

"In college I will be just another face in the crowd and it won't be easy to make myself known as a person with my own personality," Candy explained.

"The students of today want to be recognized as individuals with ideals and emotions, not just as part of the crowd. To them, the way to be recognized is by having radical ideas and actions. The most radical thing to them is doing the exact opposite to popular opinion and what the white middle class society is accustomed to. A lot truly believe in what they are doing. But I feel that the majority do it because it's 'in.' If you really believe in a cause, then you should do all you can for it, but I think that it's so ridiculous to follow the crowd and do something when you have no real reason to," Candy said.

With high school behind her now, Candy feels that she learned one lesson that will serve her well the rest of her life.

"Take advantage of every opportunity as it arises. The best way to make yourself the best person possible is to work hard at every new endeavor and become proficient in that area. You then become a well-rounded person and are not one sided," she concluded.

San Bruno-Millbrae Jaycees Plan Circus In September

The Millbrae-San Bruno Jaycees are planning to have their annual fund-raising event on September 17. The plans have been made to have a road circus show come into San Bruno and give two performances. The first show will be at 4 p.m. and the second will be at 8 p.m. The show will consist of clowns, trick riders, animals, and the usual circus attractions. The two performances will be held on the Capuchino High School's football field. It is felt that by using the football field there will be ample room for all who wish to attend. The 4:00 p.m. show will be ideal for the young people in the community so that they can see the circus during the day time if they cannot make the night show. The Jaycees welcome all adults to attend either show.

The Jaycees are bringing in the road show as part of the youth program that was announced six months ago. The feeling is to have the parents of our young people be more active with their children, and experience the pleasures of doing things with each other.

During the last few months of High School, which was a great the school year, the Jaycees success.

Skyline College

Pre-Opening Student Government Session

Skyline College's plans for an all-encompassing student government and activities program get underway as graduating high school seniors and prospective and qualified students who plan to enroll at the college this coming fall term are cordially invited to attend a special meeting, Joaquin Herrero, Dean of Men and Student Activities, announced.

The inaugural event will be held on Thursday at 1 p.m. in the college's new administration building.

"Now that Skyline College has become a reality, there comes the need to form committees and student government structures. Therefore, we hope that the students from this area will attend this important meeting," Herrero declared.

Included in the program will be opportunities for discussion on such topics as orientation procedures, cultural affairs, social activities, elections, setting up of committees, and the writing of a temporary constitution.

Herrero stated that the success of this meeting and future programs will depend upon the comments, suggestions, and cooperation by the students in developing the suggestions into workable and meaningful operations.

Already slated is the September 23 date for initial tryouts for cheer leaders and pompon girls for Skyline College.

Ground Meat Dishes

Good morning, good cooks.

Let's see now, we've been talking for the past two weeks about making cookies and cakes. Two of my favorite column subjects. But we can't live on cookies and cakes, much as we'd like to, so let's get down to a more solid subject . . . meat and potatoes.

This first entree I'm going to suggest uses that grand old favorite, ground meat, as it's main ingredient. "Hip-hip-hooray for ground beef," not only is it inexpensive but it goes further in feeding our families.

BARBECUED MEATBALLS

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- ½ cup quick oats
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup minced onion
- 2½ teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 3 tablespoons hot fat
- 2 cups tomatoes (one can)
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar

In a large mixing bowl combine the one and one-half pounds ground beef, one-half cup each oats and milk and two tablespoons of the chopped onion. (Save the rest for the sauce.) Season with one and one-half teaspoons salt (saving one teaspoon for sauce) and the half teaspoon pepper. Mix all together lightly and shape into balls. Roll in the four tablespoons flour and brown in the three tablespoons hot fat.

While the meatballs are browning, prepare the sauce in the following way. In a medium bowl combine the two cups tomatoes, broken into small pieces, the remaining chopped onion and teaspoon salt, the one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, three tablespoons vinegar and two tablespoons brown sugar. Mix well and pour over browned meatballs. Cover and cook slowly, stirring occasionally for 30 minutes.

Serve with either hot rice, noodles or boiled potatoes.

This next recipe is for one of the quickest, easiest and tastiest casseroles ever. This is one of those recipes that I used to use a lot, then filed it away and forgot all about it until a friend called to ask about it. Thanks friend, for re-introducing this delicious dish.

QUICKIE CASSEROLE

- 1 pound ground round
- 1 can tomato soup
- 1 can chili-beef soup
- 1 can macaroni, raw
- ½ cup grated cheddar cheese

Brown the pound of ground round. (You really don't have to use ground round, any ground beef is fine. I just like the sound of that first sentence.) Season to taste. Add the can of tomato and chili-beef soup, undiluted. Cook the cup of macaroni, drain and add to the meat soup mixture.

Pour into a lightly greased one and one-half quart casserole. Sprinkle the half cup of cheddar cheese over the top. Bake in 350-degree oven 20 to 30 minutes or until heated through.

Do you remember about two months ago when green peppers sold for just a little more than diamonds? What a difference two months and a plentiful harvest makes. Green peppers are in the produce departments in abundance and we know what that means don't we? The price is right! Ditto for tomatoes! So now is the time to dream up dishes that use these two delicious vegetables.

HAMBURGER CASSEROLE

- 1 medium onion
- 2 green peppers
- 2 tablespoons shortening or oil
- 1 pound hamburger
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 eggs
- 1 can whole kernel-corn, 17 ounces
- 4 medium tomatoes, sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup bread crumbs

Start your oven at 375 degrees and grease a 2-quart casserole or baking dish.

Peel and chop the onion. Remove the seeds and cut the two green peppers into chunks. Cook both vegetables in the two tablespoons oil until tender, then stir in the pound of hamburger and continue cooking until meat is brown and crumbly.

Remove from heat, cool slightly and stir in the two teaspoons salt, the fourth teaspoon pepper. Add the two eggs and mix well.

Spoon half this mixture into the greased casserole, cover with the can of drained corn, arrange half the tomato slices over corn and spoon the remaining meat mixture over the top. Cover with the rest of the tomato slices.

Melt the two tablespoons butter in a little pan, stir in the half cup bread crumbs and cook until crisp and golden. Sprinkle over the top of the casserole and bake for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Taking the Word to the People

By MICHELLE CARTER

The Planned Parenthood Association of San Mateo (County) has taken a lesson from the old story of Mohammed and the mountain. They are taking their family planning program to those who can't get to them — or to similar facilities operated by the county.

By means of an Econovan donated to PPA for this purpose, Planned Parenthood will send a mobile unit out to Pacifica, East San Mateo and Redwood City to set up clinics in local churches.

"Right now we are planning six days a month for this program which will be launched in September," Mrs. Marvin McCray, association president, explained. "We will be in each of the three areas twice a month — in the afternoon on one day and in the evening on the other. All our equipment is portable and will be set up in the churches in the area where the need is greatest."

A nurse has been hired to drive the van and staff the traveling clinic along with a doctor who will be hired on a parttime basis for his work with the clinic. Several doctors already have volunteered to help launch the mobile unit.

"Services of the clinic will include an interview and birth control counseling as well as the fitting or prescription decided upon. We also will do Pap smears (for uterine cancer testing) at this time."

Coordination With County
Throughout the planning of the mobile unit, PPA has worked closely with the county Public Health Service.

"The need in the Pacifica area is especially great, and the nearest facility (in South San Francisco) is so inaccessible, it is easier for women from the Pacifica area to go into the University of California Medical Center than to the county's clinic."

"We are really blessed in this county with the greatest cooperation with the county. Dr. Choche has always been so willing for us work together instead of at cross purposes."

(Dr. Harold C. Choche is director of the County Health and Welfare Services at County General Hospital.)

"We will set up some nominal fee for the services since most women prefer to pay for what they get instead of feeling that they are accepting charity. But if the woman is in no position to pay anything, we'll pick up the tab."

The mobile unit is only one of many directions in which Planned Parenthood has moved in this county. The hub of their activities is a pleasant office at 35 North B Street, San Mateo.

When a young woman walks through the Dutch doors of the office or telephones there, she usually needs information. The women who staff the office are ready with the answers or know how to find them.

Referred to Doctors
"Most of the women who come here want birth control information and services. We ask them if they can afford a private doctor, and if they can, we give them the names of three doctors in their area who will perform that service for them," Mrs. McCray, an almost permanent resident at the PPA office, said.

"If they cannot afford a private doctor, then we direct her to one of the three family planning clinics operated by the county (in South San Francisco, East Palo Alto or at San Mateo County General Hospital.) If she requests it, we will make the appointment for her and arrange for a driver to pick her up and take her there. If she has children, the driver will stay with them until she is finished."

"When women call the county clinic directly, the nurse there will ask her if she needs transportation and then will call us if it is needed."

Planned Parenthood also will arrange for a Spanish speaking volunteer (or whatever language is called for) to pick the woman up if she has difficulty with English.

"Other calls are from girls who think they might be pregnant. They usually are frightened and don't know what to do next. We send them to Mrs. Blossom Pandit, a medical social worker at San Mateo County General Hospital, who will give reliable pregnancy tests free of charge for girls under 21 in complete confidence. Although the service is available whether they are Loading equipment into their new mobile unit van are members of San Mateo Planned Parenthood who will launch family planning clinics in three sections of the county. They include Mrs. Connie Tilles (left), a Spanish-speaking volunteer; Mrs. Frances Sturgeon, staff nurse for the project; Dr. Robert Sells, chairman of the medical advisory committee of Planned Parenthood in San Mateo, and Dr. Harold Dennis, PPA medical director. (Post Photos) married or not, most of the girls are unmarried.

'Extreme Birth Control'

Occasionally the office gets a request for abortion information, and they will explain the California law to them and put them in charge with doctors who can help them legally.

Mrs. McCray was adamant in pointing out that Planned Parenthood, locally and nationally, will not direct a woman to seek an underground abortion or the find a legal abortion in Japan or Europe.

Although Planned Parenthood is concerned with the abolition of abortion legislation, the organization represents one of the more conservative approaches to this problem.

At a recent abortion conference in San Francisco, Dr. Sadjia Goldsmith of the San Francisco Planned Parenthood Association stated that it was unnecessary for a woman to seek an illegal abortion in San Francisco because any woman who wanted one could receive one legally. Mrs. McCray preferred not to endorse a similar statement for San Mateo County.

"We consider abortion to be extreme birth control. We would prefer to handle it before it comes to that," she said.

Slightly less urgency, calls occasionally come in for information about infertility, vasectomies or tubal ligations. The office has a complete list of doctors in different parts of the county who specialize in these areas and will give their names to the caller.

Sexually Involved Teenager

"However, without any doubt our biggest problem today is the sexually involved teenager. The girls between 16 and 17 and living at home are really a problem."

"Neither a private doctor nor the county clinic will prescribe birth control pills for a woman under 21 unless she has the consent of one parent, is engaged to be married or has had a previous pregnancy. There is one other category called the 'emancipated minor' which is quite specialized and doesn't usually apply."

To battle the problems of the sexual revolution in today's youth, Planned Parenthood provides all the information it possibly can to help young people understand the alternatives open to them.

The office maintains an extensive library on birth control, population control and world population problems.

To disseminate information further, PPA opens its office to minority teenagers (who most often are least informed on this topic) on the fourth Thursday of each month.

"We send out invitations to the teenage girls to come here, see a movie and talk to a doctor who will answer questions as candidly as possible."

Another group which is vital in need of birth control information are the inmates of the Women's Jail in Redwood City.

Jail Visiting Project
"Every other Thursday evening we send a team down there to talk to as many women as are interested. We come only when invited, but they usually are eager to hear about family planning. Many times the size of their family had something to do with their for being in jail in the first place."

Mrs. McCray pointed out that Mrs. Ralf Stinson of Hillsborough, Planned Parenthood vice president, is especially interested in the jail visiting project. "She did some research and was one of the first to spread the information that drug addiction is passed from the mother to the new born infant. Margaret Sanger launched the program with her battle against the Comstock Act in 1913 and 14, and the world has seen the organization she initiated move from the extreme radical position in birth control to its present moderate position without changing its basic approach. It is the world that has shifted around them."

College's Crusade Drive Leaders
Are Announced

Samuel N. Goldman will be the chairman and Mrs. Lee Klemme will be the vice-chairman for Skyline College's participation in the 1969 United Bay Area Crusade campaign, Philip C. Garlington, Skyline College President, announced.

Thirty-two Bay Area colleges, universities, community colleges, and theological seminaries will be participating in the annual drive, which is headed this year by Dr. Ellis E. McCune, President of California State College at Hayward.

"The United Bay Area Crusade campaign is just one of the many improvement programs in which Skyline College plans to participate once we get underway and become a part of this area's educational and community programs," Garlington declared. Skyline College will open its doors September 10 as the Bay Area's newest community college.

College's Crusade Drive Leaders Are Announced

Samuel N. Goldman will be the chairman and Mrs. Lee Klemme will be the vice-chairman for Skyline College's participation in the 1969 United Bay Area Crusade campaign, Philip C. Garlington, Skyline College President, announced.

Raspberry Fluff A Yummy Dessert

Lively red berries, creamy whipping cream and flavorful gelatin make just about the easiest, yummiest dessert you can sink a spoon into.

Nutrients, disguised as goodies, abound in this delicious dessert — Raspberry Fluff. No one would expect such a good-tasting dessert to be so good for you.

Dairy Council of California Home Economists revived this old-time recipe which was quite popular when "grandmother" was a young housewife. It can be varied, using different flavors of gelatin and different fruits.

Whipping cream contains essential fatty acids which are very important to everyone's health. In it, too, you'll find vitamins A, D, E and K plus a concentrated source of energy. The berries in this dessert have an abundant supply of vitamin C.

Everyone enjoys the taste of rich whipping cream flavored with sugar and vanilla and used as a topping for many desserts, puddings, pastries and ice creams. But, you can change the character of whipped cream with the addition of small amounts of spices such as powdered ginger or cinnamon. Adding chopped fruits and nuts makes it a dessert in itself or an elegant topping for pound cake.

Both gelatin and whipping cream are easily digestible and a good source of quick energy as well as full of essential vitamins.

mins for your health, says Dairy Council of California.

So... when you feel like having a fluffy berry dessert, go right ahead... help yourself to health!

RASPBERRY FLUFF

One and one-thirds cups boiling water
1 package (10 oz.) frozen raspberries, thawed
1 cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon powdered sugar

Carefully fold whipped cream and berries into gelatin. Pour into individual serving dishes and chill until firm. Garnish with additional berries and whipped cream if desired.

Seasoning Does Much For Spinach

Spinach seasoned this way is so much better than plain!
Minute Steaks Potatoes
Spinach Anglaise Acorn Squash
Fruit Shortcake Beverage

SPINACH ANGLAISE

1 large bag (20 ounces) fresh spinach
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
Remove tough stem ends from spinach leaves; thoroughly wash spinach in cold water; turn into a large saucepot. Over moderate heat, turning with a long-handled fork, briefly cook spinach in the water clinging to the leaves until wilted but still bright green. Turn into a colander to drain; with kitchen scissors cut the leaves coarsely. Put the butter into the clean dry pot and let stand over low heat until it turns golden brown; mix in spinach, then salt and sugar. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Lamb Shanks A New Cut To Some

To market, to market, away you go, wondering what's new, what's different, what's tasty.

Lamb shanks are an old favorite but a new meat cut to homemakers who have come on the scene more recently. These are to be cooked by a moist heat method, called braising, explains a meat expert with the National Stock and Meat Board. Capers provide a zesty note for this lamb cut which is excellent served with rice.

Savory Lamb Shanks

4 lamb shanks
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup water
1/2 cup capers
Flour

Brown lamb shanks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper and water. Cover tightly and simmer 1 hour. Add capers and simmer 30 minutes or until meat is tender. Remove shanks and thicken liquid for gravy. Four servings.

An Epicurean Approach To Shrimp

An epicurean way to serve shrimp.

Shrimp Vinaigrette Crackers
Chafing Dish Meatballs
Frosted Chiffon Cake Beverage
SHRIMP VINAIGRETTE
3 pounds medium-size shrimp
1/2 cup olive oil
2 tablespoons red or white wine vinegar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
2 large garlic cloves, peeled and slightly smashed

Cook, shell and devein shrimp; turn into a shallow container. Thoroughly shake together the remaining ingredients; pour over shrimp and mix well. Cover tightly and refrigerate about 6 hours or overnight, turning shrimp in marinade a few times. At serving time, remove garlic. Drain shrimp and serve with wooden picks (We liked the small amount of vinegar used in this recipe, but taste the marinade and increase the vinegar if you like). Makes 12 servings.

Exact Doneness: Easy Slicing

Any homemaker who has at one time overcooked a piece of meat knows it's difficult to slice. Overcooked meats do not slice. They just seem to fall apart in shreds.

For a roast, it's easy to chart doneness with a roast meat thermometer. After cooking to the degree desired, let the roast "rest" to become firm enough for slicing. That takes 20 minutes.

Turkey Barbecued On Gas Grill Today

Long before our ancestors reached these shores, the American Indian was having a barbecue... and, of course, wild turkey was high on the menu. But turkeys and barbecue methods have changed considerably. Today's turkeys are marketed at a young, tender age and modern technology has brought many innovations to the outdoor cook, such as the convenient gas grill.

Instructions are given here for cooking turkey pieces that have been marinated for several hours in a tangy sauce. Use the smaller turkeys and cut them up yourself or have it done at your market.

Plan your next barbecue around tasty, economical turkey. It has been a longtime holiday and special occasion favorite and is sure to make a special occasion out of your next barbecue.

GRILLED TURKEY PIECES
Small turkeys (4 to 8 pounds) are best suited to broiling or grilling. The smaller turkeys may be split in half or quartered. The larger ones should be cut up as follows: 2 wings, 2 drumsticks, 2 thighs, 4 pieces of breast, and 2 pieces of back.
1. Light grill as directed by manufacturer and preheat.
2. Place marinated turkey pieces skin side up on grill over medium flame. (The wings and back pieces may be added 1/2 hour after the more meaty pieces.)
3. Cook, turning every 15 minutes, for approximately 1 1/2 hours or until fork tender. Turkey pieces may be basted with additional marinade during cooking.

TURKEY MARINADE
1 cup tarragon vinegar
1/2 cup olive or salad oil
1 medium onion, sliced
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 whole bay leaves
Blend ingredients in saucepan. Bring to boil. Remove from heat and cool to lukewarm. Pour over turkey parts in shallow pan. Refrigerate at least 4 hours, or overnight, turning occasionally.

Rich Flavor In Butter Cookie Recipe

This simple, rich-flavored cookie recipe comes from a Cleveland hostess.
Crabmeat Canapes
Leona Siegel's Butter Cookies
Tea with Lemon or Milk
LEONA SIEGEL'S BUTTER COOKIES
1/4 pound (1 stick) butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring Pinch of salt
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon commercial sour cream
Cream butter and sugar. Stir in flour and salt. Lightly beat together the egg yolk and sour cream; add to flour mixture; mix well. Chill 1 hour at least. Work with 1/2 the dough at a time, keeping rest refrigerated. Using 1/4 tablespoon for each, shape dough into balls; place about 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. With a fork, slightly flatten balls, lightly pressing down times in two directions. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until golden brown — about 13 minutes. With a wide spatula, carefully remove to wire racks to cool. Store in tightly covered tin box. Makes almost 2 1/2 dozen.

S.F. Airport Expansion Is Approved

San Francisco's Public Utilities Commission approved a revised $141,000,000 five year expansion plan for San Francisco International Airport last week to prepare for the impending era of new jets.

The plan is subject to approval by the board of supervisors.

Funds for the program will include the $38,000,000 1967 airport bond issue; $13,000,000 in airport revenues and the formation of a non-profit corporation to finance the extra $30,000,000.

The new program was approved at a special commission meeting last month at which airport general manager George F. Hansen reported an unexpected rise of $30,000,000 in the cost of developing the terminal for future needs.

Commissioner Richard N. Goldman, voting against the plan, urged participation by San Mateo County. Hansen said, "this is a regional facility." He also contended the costs of both the bonds and the non-profit financing could be met from airport revenues.

The unexpected costs include additions to the airport for bigger planes, greater passenger and baggage capacities and higher construction costs.

Hansen said that the costs of both the bonds and the non-profit financing could be met from airport revenues. The bulk of the non-profit funds will be used to construct a fifth level on the airport garage.

In other business the commission approved schematic plans and specifications for extension of the South terminal at the airport by 150 feet at each end. The work will cost an estimated $15,000,000.

Jefferson El. Chief, Aides Win Raises

Two top administrators of Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District were awarded new four-year contracts at last week's meeting of the board of trustees.

Board members voted to renew the contracts of Assistant Superintendents Dr. Vinton Stratton and Roger Barthuli at their current salaries of $23,750 per year.

Both Dr. Stratton and Barthuli have a year remaining in their present contracts, but Supt. Frank Greenwood pointed out to board members that it is customary to renew "multi-year" contracts before their expiration date.

Both board members and the superintendent commended the two administrators for their "outstanding performance" in the past.

Lock Firm Forecloses

The Schlage Lock Company of San Francisco went to court yesterday to foreclose on a deed of trust held on the land, structures, equipment and inventory of the Mars Metal Corporation at 555 Tunnell Avenue, Brisbane.

In a lawsuit filed in Superior Court in Redwood City the Schlage Company states that Mars owes a total of $308,881 on a promissory note and for goods delivered.

The suit states that no monthly payments of $3,333.33 each have been made on a $200,000 promissory note since last December. In accordance with terms of the note, Schlage is electing in the suit to declare the entire remaining sum of $156,666 due, plus interest of $5,546.

In addition, according to the suit, Mars owes $141,288 on delivered goods, plus interest of $5,369.

Bruno Firm Wins Bid

A contract for the removal of skylights at seven San Mateo elementary schools was awarded by district trustees last week to Peterson, Rathbun and Moore, San Mateo construction firm which submitted a low bid of $37,540.

J. M. Construction Company of San Bruno, with a low bid of $19,600, was awarded the contract for construction of the Merrill School library addition.

Funds For Coastside Road Approved By County Unit

Allocation of $147,000 in city-county highway funds for improvements to Sharp Park Road in Pacifica was approved last week by the county Greater Highway Committee.

The city had asked that its share of the fund administered by the committee be earmarked for the construction scheduled to start next year.

The fund is made up of a portion of state tax revenues allocated to the county and is apportioned to the cities for use on city projects deemed to have county-wide importance.

A request by the city of Millbrae that Millbrae Avenue be substituted for Millwood Drive as its first stage city-county project was approved. County Engineer Don S. Wilson said planning for Millwood Drive has lagged because of uncertainties over future traffic patterns in the vicinity of International Airport.

New County Supervisor Gerald F. Day took over yesterday as chairman of the Greater Highways Committee, succeeding James V. Fitzgerald.

Pacifican Is Injured

Richard Everett Ordante, 35, of 1544 Maunala, Pacifica, was hospitalized with head injuries at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City Thursday, suffered when his foreign made sports car sailed through the air on Cabrillo highway near Reina del Mar in Pacifica, landed on its top and skidded 66-feet on its top with the driver inside.

Highway Patrolmen said that Ordante was so badly hurt they could not question him then.

To Youths Are Stabbed At House Party in D.C.

John Rusconi, 20-year-old victim of multiple stab wounds during a fracas in Daly City last Friday, was transferred to Letterman General Hospital for further treatment Monday.

Rusconi, a soldier stationed at the Presidio, had been rushed to Mary's Help Hospital shortly after the incident in which another youth, Faustino Region, 18, of 891 Lausanne Street, were stabbed in front of 38 Castlehouse party at the Castlemont address and invited guests attempted to eject them.

The young soldier was first reported to be in "very critical" condition, while Region's condition was less serious.

Police are still investigating the case.

They would say only that the fight apparently started when several youths "crashed" a house party at the Castlemont address and invited guests attempted to eject them.

The fight spilled out onto the street and knives were drawn.

Booked for assault with a deadly weapon were Maurice Comstock, 18, 161 Valley Street; Richard Barry, 18, 473 Abbott; and Arthur Garcia, 18, 244 Second Avenue, all of Daly City.

Safeway Manager Named

FRED GRUMM

GEORGE CHENAULT

Safeway Stores, Incorporated, has promoted veteran employee George Chenault to manage its new Westborough Shopping Center, South San Francisco, store which will be opened for business, August 6.

A native of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Chenault started his Safeway career in Mill Valley in 1955. He was promoted to assistant store manager in 1958 and to store manager in 1966. He most recently managed one of the food firm's largest units in Hawaii. Chenault will supervise a staff of 36 employees who will earn an estimated $300,000 annually.

Assisting him will be Robert Martin, assistant store manager; Fred Grumm, meat department manager; and Hoon Low, produce department manager. Martin started with Safeway in 1960 in Washington, D.C. as a Food Clerk. He came to the Bay Area following service with the U.S. Army. His most recent assignment was assistant store manager of the Sandhill Road, Menlo Park unit. A native of Arcata, he lives in San Carlos with his wife, Loretta, and two children.

Grumm completed his meat cutter apprenticeship training following employment with Safeway in 1959. He was promoted to meat department manager in 1964. A native of San Francisco, and educated in public schools there, Grumm also lives in San Carlos with his wife, Dorinda.

August 6th Opening Of SSF Store

The new Safeway store located in the Westborough Shopping Center in South San Francisco will open for business at 9 a.m., August 6, following a brief ribbon cutting ceremony in which company and civic officials will participate, and to which the public is invited.

Designed by Hammarberg & Herman of Oakland for Connolly Development Company, the developers of Westborough Square Shopping Center, the new 25,546 square foot supermarket features a mansard roof line, a large frontal glass area, and concrete block walls and decor. Glue-lam wood beams support the ceiling.

The interior store design features colorful wall treatment, and the interesting use of departmental signs and wall graphics, high level illumination, and spacious wide aisles have been provided for shopping ease.

The store has been air conditioned for year-round shopping comfort.

Seven checkouts have been provided for speedy processing of customers' purchases.

A customer service booth has been provided where checks may be cashed, money orders purchased, empty bottles returned, and floor cleaning and rug shampooing equipment rented.

The new store will offer a selection of almost 10,000 items including liquors and fine wines and fancy and imported party foods.

Operating hours for the new store are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday, and 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday, and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., all other days.

CAGE FUTURE 'BRIGHT' AT SKYLINE

26 Games in Camino Norte League

By SAM GOLDMAN
Skyline College

The crystal ball could be a basketball as the future looks bright for Skyline College's cage fortunes... at least that's the impression and observation of head coach Walt Rillet.

The team composed of players from North San Mateo County (playing under the sponsorship of "Crone-Congdon" paper publications) recently concluded summer competition in the Menlo-Atherton Summer Basketball League.

"Sure the won-loss record is important. However, the spirit, interest, attitude, and steady improvement on the part of the players has been terrific, Rillet declared.

The local club was rated as "the most improved team" in the competition. Aiding Rillet's guard; Jeffereon High - Jerry Kollmann, forward; Crestmoor High - Dick Young, forward; So. San Francisco High - Rich Johnston, forward; Oceana High - and Joe Sharr, forward; Balboa High - in San Francisco, but now lives in Daly City.

Members of the Rillet tutored club this summer included: Mike Brown, guard; Mike Coffey, forward; Westmoor High - Bob Lowe, center; Mike Furth, center; Willie Redmond, guard; Gary Cirdella, guard; Jeffereon High - Jerry Kollmann, forward; Crestmoor High - Dick Young, forward; So. 1969-70 season will join the Camino Norte Conference which includes Canada, Contra Costa, DeAnza, College of Marin, Santa Rosa, Solano, and West Valley colleges.

Head coach Rillet will lead the first Skyline College quintet into a 26 date schedule which will include 14 Camino Norte league contests and 12 non-CNC dates.

Rillet stated that he expects a hustling, full court offense-defense club when the cagers open their season against Monterey Peninsula College, Friday, November 28 in Monterey.

Non-league opponents will include Cabrillo, Napa, Chabot, Diablo Valley, Monterey Peninsula, Menlo, San Jose City, Ohlone, and Gavilan colleges.

The San Brunos also will be one of the teams in the Cuesta College Tournament to be held in San Luis Obispo on the weekend of December 11-13.

As one of the quintets in the Camino Norte League Conference the Skyliners will be playing against Contra Costa, West Valley, DeAnza, College of Marin, Solano, and Santa Rosa colleges.

The Daly City Recreation Department's Co-Recre 'B' Division Volleyball got underway last week at the War Memorial Community Center as the Odd Squad and Rejects moved out on top of what appears to be one of the closest matched leagues to date.

The Odd Squad defeated the Group, 15-9 and 15-9, but lost the third encounter, 3-15, while the Rejects took two out of three from the Wild Bunch 15-8, 13-15, and 15-8. The Kings and Queens drew a first round bye.

LE PACINI

An Oldtimer

You Daly City fight fans may be interested in the following excerpt from an article by an anonymous oldtimer we called from "Official Program," a boxing program:

"If he were around today, I'm sure they'd have a big fight out here some place... Sunny Jim Coffroth would have done it up real big for them. He was a master showman."

"I'd say he did more than anyone else to put Daly City on the map 50 years ago."

"Maybe he'd give 'em another Willie Ritchie-Ad Wolgast fight... or a repeat between little Stanley Ketchel and big Jack Johnson..."

"Why it seems like only yesterday that we piled into our buggies and made the long, rocky trip out unpaved Mission Street to see one of Coffroth's holiday fights."

(Outlawed in San Francisco 50 years ago, boxing moved into Daly City where Coffroth staged fistie extravaganzas.)

"Daly City has grown steadily through the years... (but) Back in our day it was... barren lands, few homes and John Daly's dairy ranch."

"Everytime I pass Jefferson High School I shed a tear. It was right on that spot that my old friend Jimmy Britt fought Battling Nelson for the championship. I believe they used to call it Union Courting Park..."

"Nelson... Abe Attell, Billy Papke, Owen Moran... Joe Gans... Coffroth starred 'em all in his cast"

"I saw Dick Hyland fight... Leach Cross, who came out of New York. It went 42 rounds on a foggy afternoon and they called it a draw."

"And there was a fight a lot of people said they saw but never did. They brought a big shouldered fellow named Bill Squires over from Australia to fight Tommy Burns. Coffroth arranged the match for a Fourth of July afternoon."

"Well, the sports and swells from downtown took their time getting out to Daly City. So when they were coming in, fans were going out. Burns flattened Squires in one round."

"Over the hump on Mission Street and a stone's throw down toward the cemeteries they had a famed training camp known as Millets."

"All of the big ones trained there... And let me tell you something else about this Coffroth."

"He staged two world's championships two days apart. On September 7, 1908, he had Abe Attell in a match with Owen Mora, which ended in a draw. On September 9, Gans fought Nelson for the lightweight championship."

"Those were the good old days..."

While still on the subject of boxing, members of the Bay Area boxing fraternity stage their first annual golf tournament in the East Bay during the first week of August.

This picture in our mind of all the golf-playing boxers shadow boxing after their balls down the fairways, and anybody who yells fore at them may get countered.

Bet there'll be a lot of "gimmies." Who's gonna argue?

Oakland baseball announcer Monte Moore keeps topping himself. Last week we watched just two batters come to the plate in a televised Oakland game, and in that short period here's what he came up with:

"Here's Danny Cater now, fans. Last time up he got a single but unfortunately, no one was on base... Now here he is leading off the inning... and he slashes one to right center!... Another single!... Boy, we'll tell you fans, this guy's mighty tough, up at that plate with nobody on..."

Next batter was Rick Monday, who hit a hard grounder right in front of the first baseman, said Moore:

"There's a doubleplay lookin' thing if I ever saw one... but they'll never get Monday." (He was right. Rick was too fast for them.)

One may only speculate in wonder on what Moore

came up within nine full innings of baseball. The possibilities frightened us, so we switched to another channel to hear the late sports news by Barry Tompkins... and THAT'S another story.

MAYBE INTERESTING FACTS: The Giants, believe it or not, Mr. Ripley, at this writing have stolen 11 more bases than the Dodgers.

In 1932 Jimmy Foxx batted .364, hit 58 homers, batted in 169 runs, was named Most Valuable Player. In 1933 he hit .356, slugged 48 homers, drove in 163 runs, was named Most Valuable Player. In 1934, Connie Mack cut Foxx's salary.

If you've always wondered who wrote "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," the words were by vaudevillean Jack Norworth (who also wrote "Shine on Harvest Moon"), music by Albert Bon Tilzer in 1908.

Northworth, who didn't see his first baseball game until 33 years after he wrote the song, said he got the inspiration from a billboard advertising games at the Polo Grounds while riding the New York subway. Before the ride was over, the words for the song were completed. The song was introduced shortly afterward by Norworth in his act at the Amphion Theater in Brooklyn.

We suppose there should be some mention made of the All-Star game but to tell the truth the "Classic" has seldom thrilled us and about the only thing of interest, were the individual duels between the Giants and the A's. In this aspect we are happy to report, if you haven't already noticed, that the Giants made a comeback from last year's head-and-head whipping and spurred to the fore decisively.

Last year, as you may remember, Blue Moon Odom retired Willie Mays on an infield grounder and struck out Willie McCovey. Oakland's only triumph in this game was a catch by Reggie Jackson of Mays' pinch-hit fly to right. But McCovey got sweet revenge off Odom, reaching him for the homerun which started Odom off on an embarrassing, record-tying five run inning.

LOCAL NOTES: This item's a little late, but two weeks ago Pacifica's Mark Brelsford won a national cyclist championship in Gardena in the 50 lap TT Steeplechase from a field of 30 expert qualifiers from all over the nation. Mark picked up $1700 for the winner's share.

Brelsford, only 20, was one of the youngest contestants in the race, which was his first Professional Expert National title. He had won seven national titles as an amateur last year, when he was the American Motorcycle Association's amateur point champion.

Now the parts manager at Pacifica Honda, Brelsford started his racing career while at South San Francisco High School.

And finally, Pacifica's most illustrious amateur golfer, Elmer Harris, last week took a second place in his flight in Scotland's Glen Eagle International Seniors Tournament.

Top senior golfers from 17 countries competed in the grueling tournament, which called for the 76-year-old wonder to play 18 holes for six consecutive days.

Bass Derby Prizes Set

The Pacifica Jaycees are holding a demonstration of Alvey casting equipment which are the prizes for the biggest fish caught during each week of their Bass Derby. The demonstration will be conducted by John Simpson, the Alvey representative. Also in attendance will be Dave Niles, disc jockey, who will provide radio coverage.

The demonstration will be held at Rockaway Beach in Pacifica on Sunday, at 1:00 p.m. Anyone wishing to observe the demonstration and try out the tackle is invited to attend.

The winner of the weekly prize in the Jaycees' Bass Derby, which goes to the fisherman who lands the biggest bass of the week, goes to: Don Davis, 1615 Hudson No. 203, Pacifica.

Winners of daily prizes, which consist of Trileen line, Darddevil and Creek Chub lures, Ronson stoves, and dinners or other merchandise, go to: Floyd A. Catron, 1819 Chestnut, Santa Clara; Peter Colby, 64 Montebello, Pacifica; David Aarberg, 1205 De Solo, Pacifica; Chuck Wright, 365 Gardenside, 120 at midnight.

S.S.F. Slates Rec Meeting

Recreation Commission Chairman Joe Manjarrez announces scheduling of a special meeting of the Recreation Commission for Thursday at City Hall, South San Francisco.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. to review plans and specifications for the construction of the Westborough 10-acre park site.

At 7:30 p.m. a review will be held of the plans and specifications for the indoor swimming pool to be constructed at Orange Memorial Park.

The special meeting is being called to allow submission of plans and specifications on both projects to the city council for consideration at their meeting of August 18.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend all meetings of the Recreation Commission.

South San Francisco: Charles Range, 1169 Sanchez Way, Redwood City; Charles L. Ledo, 274 Clifton Road, Pacifica; and Craig Rozen, 2421 Palmetto, Pacifica. These winners were for the week ending July 20 at midnight.

D.C. Playground Roundup

COLMA

Don Deamond

The Dumb Dumb moved into first place in the Colma Volleyball League with decisive victories over the Red Squad (21-9, 21-11) and the Miradores (21-2, 21-4). Bill Perla, the week's most valuable player, led the highly spirited Dumb Dumb, Elta Harper, Linda Perez, Darryne Shultz, and Frank Carney all added to the team effort. Ron Sanchez, Bonnie Howard, Alex Senica, and Mike O'Shea all turned in good performances for John Meyer's Mod Squad. Miradores Jim Aquino, Debbie McCurdy, Dottie Molina, Louis and Denise Tricardi all played well but could not stop the ever explosive Dumb Dumb. Colma's table tennis champion seems to be Chito Fonseca as he continues to demolish all challengers. Latest entries in the annual Muscle-Man Contest are Steve Scott, Bob Gordon, Tom O'Shea, Daniel Prevot, Ed Dominguez, and Garon England.

OUR LADY OF MERCY

Peg Davenport

There has been a great deal of excitement on Our Lady of Mercy playground lately. Last week's bike decorating contest brought winning smiles to Joan Colman, Johnny Nezy, Paula Salda, Diane Murray, and Elaine Murray. This week's Pel Show proved to be great fun also. The most unusual, the best dressed, and the smallest pet are all sure to be winners.

VISTA MAR

Virginia Simon

Vista Mar's Frisbee Champions proved to be two brothers, Mark and Bill Cody, who could be seen before "the contest" selling their Frisbees around their neighborhood for practice. Second place in the 8 to 12-year division went to Ron Tyler, third place to Cory Price. Rich Della Cruz came in second in the older division. Weekly Wednesday Cookouts finds even Summer School attendees stopping in to "cook" after classes.

M. PAULINE BROWN

Lyla Marie

M. Pauline Brown was the scene of a fantastic Frisbee contest on July 17. Fifteen children attempted to win a spot in the Citywide Toss Off, but Sam Anagnos (age 8) and Mike Garcia (age 13) managed to overcome all opposition and win the coveted spots. The Penny Carnival came to M. Pauline Brown and all the children who play the game were home as winners. Paul Cantwell and Sam Garcia helped the younger kids win trophies in the Golden Toss booth while finished a close second while Neville

Jim Rodriguez and Mark Greenblatt helped to sell tickets. At the Giants game field trip, Matt Amorese and Paul Strazullo were really lucky, as they managed to find three vendor hats and one baseball cap that they traded for a Giants' pennant. Both they and the Giants went home as winners that afternoon.

PALISADES PARK

Paul Gasta

Due to the popularity of soccer at Palisades Park, there will be a soccer game every Monday afternoon from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Outstanding players in past games have been Yoda del Torchio, Matt Mayhew, and Robert Klamm. Although there were not many participants, the Frisbee Tournament provided many exciting moments. Steve Perone won the open-age division, Rick Samulson took the 11-15-year-old crown and Joe Crociani was the victor in the 7-11-year-old division. Other outstanding participants in the contest were Walter Lucas, Lynn Shubunka, Cathy Shubunka, and Nancy Anne Cunningham. The Hula-Hoop Contest is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, July 23. Be sure to sign up early.

OLYMPIA

Mike Ciardella

Olympia School held a Frisbee Contest on Wednesday, July 14, with results as follows: 8-12 age group: first place, Tom McLoughlin; second, Pat O'Grady; third, George McLoughlin; second, Gary Boffi. On Wednesday, July 23, Olympia held a Hula-Hoop Contest. Results will be given at a later date. Outstanding Hula-Hoopers have been John Robbins, Jimmy Alward, and Dee-Dee O'Grady. This week's Boy of the Week award goes to Doug Robbins. Girl of the Week award goes to Joanne McLoughlin.

MARCHBANKS

John Handley

The past week at Marchbanks Park was filled with children's contests and a little sunshine. On Tuesday, July 17, a Frisbee Contest was held. Guy Smith, age 10, edged out Thomas Williams and Jeff Alexander, age 8, to win his division. However, an excellent Frisbee performance by Roy J. Balton in the eight-and-under division, highlighted the day's activities. Roy J. showed extreme skill with the Frisbee and compiled more points than any of his competitors in the 8-12 year old division. Gayland Smith, 12, edged out Thomas Williams and Jeff Alexander, age 8, to win his division. However, an excellent Frisbee performance by Roy J. 2. Thomas Williams, age 8 17 points
3. Jeff Alexander, age 8 16 points
4. Jill Hastings, age 10 15 points

2. David Arron, age 13 22 points
3. Neville Wall, age 13 25 points
4. Ronnie Heynes, age 13 24 points
Last Thursday foot races were held on Marchbanks' lower field. Jill Hastings, age 10, streaked past her competition to sweep the 50 and 100-yard dashes. In the 440-yard relay, the team of Leslie and Estie Alexander, walked away with a victory. Joanne Hastings, age 15, made up for her running malice to capture wins in the 80 and 100-yard dashes. In the boy's division Sergio Guerrero, age 16, finished by his two nearest competitors, Jess Albright, age 16, and Jimmy Bird, age 14.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Jack Bailey

The week's playground activity was highlighted by a newspaper drive. The big collectors were Barbara and Joanne Tollefson, Mitchell Perry, Susan Sierra, Renee and Tommy Francis, Jim Rossi, and Mark Flick. Dell Nelson, Mike Jasey, Tony and Evonne Lewis, and Kevin Goodwin. The Local Values of F.D. smashed the Trojans of Westlake Park, 13-4, as Rick Gusti and Gary Trocior batted three-run homers while Steve Clinton went three-for-three. Gusti, Don Thomas, and Mike Gaili sparked the team defensively. P.D.R. proved it has the overall Frisbee greats as Steve Wilner, Barbara Tollefson, and Charlie Reel placed first, second and third respectively in the three age groups at the Daly City Toss-Off championships. The Hula-Hoop Contest results were: 8 and under - first place, Joanne Hernandez; second, Susan Sierra; third, Michele Alvarez. 10 and over - first, Julie Hernandez; second, Barbara Tollefson; third, Jerry Lewis. Friday, to end the week "country style" the kids put on "Western Day." Cowboy outfits, slick horses and street shootouts preceded a Western Cookout - one time was had by all.

WESTMOOR PARK

Paul Phelan

Westmoor Park has started their tennis tournament with some strong competition in both the boys' and girls' divisions. In the boys' division Bill Murley, Dan Tompkins, Ed Essau, Butcher Milton, Bill Allen, Gary Fitzgerald, and Larry Weston Peltak for the boys.

are just a few of the court favorites. In the girls' division, Judy Mandelbaum, Sharon DeAlba, Dawn Bernardi, Karen Agnone, and Dianna Maniscalco are all finalists in the tournament. The Girl Athlete of the Week award goes to Gerry Glas and Lauren Brown for their outstanding boxing and wrestling tactics. The Boy Athlete of the Week award goes to Steve Murray for bating both Ted Gray and Joe Skarr in Ping-Pong. The seventh and eighth grade boys' baseball team, the Curve-Balls, won once again last week, defeating Wallaces 4-2. Their record is now 7 wins and one loss. Jim Freitas and Wayne Murray have both contributed some clutch performances. Finally what everyone has been waiting for, the Quote of the Week, once again was won by John E. Murray for saying "What, me worry?"

WESTLAKE PARK

Bob Verduci

Congratulations to Steve Berman, who represented Westlake Park and captured second place in the Citywide Frisbee Championship. Steve performed in expert style at the playground toss-off and continued to perform well in the finals. Maure Jones and Andy Parr were also crowned champions in their respective age groups and competed in the finals. In the 8-12 year old division Ken Hodder finished in second place and Jennie Patti, Cindy Thompson, John Snowgrass, and Mike Parr all tied for third in the 8-12 year old division. Bruce Castelle came in second while Gary Buchner, Paul Mifud, and Grant Thompson managed a third-place tie. The Little League Athletics suffered an 11-1 defeat at the hands of Westmoor Park.

Despite the fact that they were out-matched, the Athletics manifested a never-say-die attitude as Bob Castelle, Dan Beltramo, Art Zissen, Jim Lison, John Wilson, Kirk Dave, Steve Berman, Mark Joshua, and Bob Edwards all turned in fine efforts. Hard work really paid off for the young Trojans as they had the Western from George Washington, 2-1, in a thriller. John McHugh, Bruce Castelle, George Barry, Gary Buchner, and Nicky Barnes all played outstanding baseball. The game will be replayed on Thursday, July 24, at 1 p.m. The Boy and Girl of the Summer will be selected by the director in the near future. Among the candidates will be Joanne Patti, DeDe Ravetti, Sally Castelle, Kathy Hodder, and Cindy Thompson. The winners from George Washington, 2-1, in a thriller. The Sandy Beaches

With all its other attractions, Lake Tahoe is overlooked by most vacationers for what it is — one of the most beautiful water recreation areas in the world. Although much of its shoreline has been privately owned, that situation is gradually changing and more beautiful, sandy beaches are opening to all at many points all around the lake, says the California State Automobile Association.

At the north end of the lake on the Nevada side is Sand Harbor Beach State Recreation Area, located about four miles south of Incline. In addition to the long sandy beach, there are picnic tables and a bathhouse. No charge for use of facilities.

Also on the Nevada side of the lake but farther south is Zephyr Cove Beach, a private area that is open to the public for day use at modest fees. The cove is a delightful place to go swimming or boating. There is a launching ramp and many types of boats may also be rented, including motorboats and watercycles.

At the south end of the lake there are a number of public beaches. One of the old favorites is El Dorado County Public Beach opposite Bijou which has a large bathhouse complete with a snack stand. There are also three U.S. Forest Service beaches easily accessible from State Highway 89 just west of Tahoe Valley. They are Pope Beach, Kiva Beach and Baldwin Beach and all are beautiful curving stretches of sand with enough shallow water for the kids to play safely. Amazingly enough these beaches are usually not crowded even during the warm summer months.

Also at the south end of the lake is Camp Richardson, a U.S. Forest Service campground. There is a private concession here which has a launching ramp and complete boat rentals. At beautiful Emerald Bay you can swim at a beach situated opposite Vikingsholm, the Scandinavian stone castle. The sheltered waters of Emerald Bay are also ideal for boating and water skiing.

Just north of this bay is Bliss State Park with one of the prettiest beaches to be found at Tahoe. Although the camping sites are usually pretty well filled in summer, you can drive in for a day of swimming and sunbathing along the half-mile beach at Rubicon Point.

North of Bliss Park is the new state park at Sugar Pine Point between Meeks Bay and Tahoe. The park comprises some 2,000 acres and will eventually have over 1,000 camp units plus hiking trails and picnic sites. Sugar Pine Point also includes over a mile of shoreline on Lake Tahoe and numerous beaches are being developed.

Between Sugar Pine Point and Tahoe City are several public beaches plus a state recreation area at Tahoe City. Of course many of the private resorts at the west and north sides of the lake have beautiful beach facilities for the use of their guests.

But, you say, the water in Lake Tahoe is too cold for swimming. Bah, humbug!

If you go water skiing across the deepest parts of the lake you may need a wetsuit but if you're paddling around near shore the water is cool but not cold during the summer months. Try it and see.

Planners Almost Violate The Law

RECESS TIME — The Ralph M. Brown Act, which prohibits closed door meetings except for those pertaining to personnel problems or pending litigation, applies not only to elected boards and councils, but also to appointed boards.

Included in the latter is the Daly City Planning Commission, which came within whispering distance of violating that law during their regular meeting last Tuesday.

It might be embarrassing to some public figures when they can't quite grasp a problem in front of the public, but it's downright illegal when they decide to go behind closed doors to have it explained to them.

Had it not been for newly appointed city manager David Rowe quickly calling off the "recess" about to start in the back room of the Council Chambers the other p.m., at least three members of the commission would have been in violation of the Brown Act and the consequences could have been mighty severe. The public has an absolute right to know not only what the final decision on a project is, but also how the board arrived at it. Such goings on didn't sit too well with the audience the other night.

COUNTY HUMAN RELATIONS chairman Frank (Toto) Spadarella is pushing for a State Human Relations Commission. Idea impressed Governor Reagan's Appointments Secretary, Ned Hutchinson, during his brief visit with Spadarella and North County Superior Court Judge Frank Blum last week.

AND SPEAKING OF HIZZONER — Judge Blum is off to Reno and a week's long brushing up course in "How to be a judge for fun and profit." Only kidding Judge. He WAS selected to attend the course aimed at teaching the latest courtroom techniques.

IT'S NO SECRET that Daly City officials are angered over the snub S.M. county supervisors and San Francisco are giving them over the proposed International Airport BARTD extension. They may just call off current talks with BARTD on the terminus station on Knowles. That action is drastic and doubtful, especially if Councilman Edward J. Dennis has anything to say about it.

LEGION PAYS TRIBUTE — Councilman Dennis still happily telling everyone about the standing ovation he received from American Legion Post 410 following his speech the other night.

DOUBTFUL DEPT. — Lots of innuendoes being whispered about that passage of an apartment complex at the stub end of Westbrae Court is a SURE THING. Not according to our survey! It may squeak through — then again it may not! Whichever way it goes will be viddy interesting.

U.R. (JACK) KENDREE, former WWI fighter pilot (our side) and world traveler, just returned from an enviable stay aboard Westlake III — builder HENRY DOELGER's beautiful yacht now cruising the Riviera area. At the weekly meeting of the Daly City Rotary Club last week, Jack was asked if he found Copenhagen "up to snuff." We promised to protect the identity of the curious member for fear of reprisal by MILTON BERLE.

WHY NOT? — Yes, why not? Every year finds a golfer or two collapsing and dying on local golf courses. By the time an ambulance arrives, the fellow has gone onto his reward. Why can't clubs equip a golf cart with nitro pills, oxygen and a first aid kit? Answer: They can if they have a mind to! Also a few low cost field phones strung around the grounds would get aid that much sooner.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT — A municipal judge in San Mateo County makes about $28,000 a year salary while an assemblyman earns in the neighborhood of $16,000, plus limited transportation costs and office help. Still, by our mathematics there's a $12,000 difference. Strange, but true.

SAD TO HEAR THAT Mrs. Ann DiGrazia, sister of Westlake's Bruno Scatena and owner of Marina Joe's Restaurant, passed away this week after a lengthy illness. Bruno and his sister went into the restaurant business together some 30 years ago after coming to the States from the old country.

'Healthy Rivalry'

There's a very healthy rivalry between Gwen Davis and Jacqueline Susann, authoresses of "The Pretenders" and "The Love Machine," respectively.

Miss Davis contends that "if Jackie got one and a half million for the film rights to her book, I should get one and a half million plus one dollar just for being a better writer."

Miss Susann's rebuttal when I recently quoted this to her was "who is she? I never heard of her."

But there is a parallel in their individual rise to stardom, a new role for book writers who, in this case, are as gregarious and flamboyant as any of their fictional characters.

Their books are studded with sexual activity and name dropping of the first order. The reader plays a guessing game as to which Broadway and Hollywood star the characters might be patterned after. The titillation comes, as it previously did for Miss Susann's "Valley of The Dolls," in identifying all or part of their public image gleaned from gossip columns and fan magazines.

SHE'S A VERY CANDID AND ARTICULATE WOMAN, blasting out at her contemporary writing colleagues and adding spice to her promotion campaign by injecting acid comments through a girlish smile.

"I wrote 'Pretenders' as revenge that my sweet, charming book on progressive education didn't sell well, the petite brunette related in a sneering tone.

It may have been a double revenge since Stanford University rejected Mr. Master's degree for "Someone's In The Kitchen With Dinah," a satire on wife-swapping as lacking dignity and then awarded it to her seven years later for "Sweet William," a satire about coed progressive school.

"My other books I didn't have to write but this was my toughest job because I knew someone would write a book like 'The Pretenders' and I felt it should be by someone who knows the English language."

The 'Angry Book'

"The Angry Book" will make some people angry. In it Dr. Theodore Isaac Rubin argues that a healthy emotional climate is one in which all emotions — especially anger — are given ample play and freedom.

"In this environment," he writes, "no feeling or its expression is labeled good or bad. This climate is not designed for manufacture of saints or sinners. It is meant for human beings who have ordinary emotional responses and the needs to express them freely."

Dr. Rubin writes that so many of us are afraid to feel and to express feelings and afraid to have other people feel toward us. We are victims of the purveyors of the so called "acceptable" feelings.

He writes that during childhood we are marked by inconsistencies that a child can't possibly understand, so we come into adult life with destructive blocks to feeling and showing anger.

The first is "The Secret Pact or the Be a Nice Guy — Don't Make Waves" syndrome. The terms of this pact are simply "I won't get angry and therefore I will be sure that you won't get angry."

The people who make this pact predicate their whole lives and personalities on being nice guys and on being universally liked. These "nice guys" are, therefore, forced into constantly playing roles. They can never be themselves and sadly enough they do not deduce others into liking them.

Dr. Rubin calls the second destructive block the "mind your own business syndrome." Those who follow it believe they will not get hurt if they do not get involved with other people.

So they "cool their anger" and otherwise avoid "emotional traps." The effects, of course, deprive such people of the benefits of healthy social intercourse.

A smaller block, the Doctor writes, is the need for control or mastery. People who suffer from it predicate their lives and well being on total control of themselves and others and the total environment. The only anger such people can express is used in the service of sadistic manipulation.

In a later chapter Dr. Rubin writes that such people fail to realize that "angry" responses very, very seldom reach uncontrollable levels. People can and do get mildly, moderately and even intensely angry without loss of control.

The rest of "The Angry Book" is devoted to isolating and defining the perversions of anger. The "poisons" that come from twisting anger and the untwisting anger and understanding it.

The last chapter is entitled Taking a Chance on Anger. It consists of 103 questions designed as an exercise to open up and to extend angry and loving ability.

"The Angry Book" is popular psychiatry by the author of a highly popular column in the "Ladies Home Journal." He is the author of several novels that analyze human emotions and a book on diet.

There is some criticism of Dr. Rubin's essays into popular psychiatry, but the critics agree "The Angry Book" may help some people gain new self-understanding.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION: I am afraid to have my furnace cleaned or inspected because I have heard that is how some companies get a chance to sell new heating systems. Am I right about this?

ANSWER: Reputable heating firms perform this task annually and routinely for thousands of customers and more times than not, they find no major equipment problem. As always, a few high-pressure boys use scare tactics to frighten the gullible, the retiree or older in the house. Make sure the furnace serviceman does not tear it down or remove it before you have verified what work is to be done. Do not rush into a decision and do not permit scare tactics or stress to influence what you want done.

QUESTION: Can advertising be legally refused by a newspaper, radio or TV station or other media?

ANSWER: Yes. All local media have standards or codes of ethics to protect the public and safeguard the high degree of respect for advertising on behalf of the consumer and to make a stronger marketplace. Local media cooperate with the BBB which works with advertisers and advertising media to assure that only legitimate advertising is placed before the public.

QUESTION: A home insulation salesman has assured me that if I let his company insulate my house it would save me more than 50 per cent of my present fuel bills. I am skeptical because he gave me this estimate over the phone. What do you think?

ANSWER: Unless the salesman has made a complete and careful survey of your home you have a right to be skeptical. Home insulation does achieve substantial fuel savings. The actual savings, however, depend on such factors as the method and condition of the home's construction, number and kind of windows, climate and other factors. Home insulation is a sound investment but reliable and experienced contractors would not set a price or give an estimate of fuel savings without first making an on-site inspection of the building.

QUESTION: I have been getting the run-around from a swimming pool installer who refuses to do anything about the defective plastic liner guaranteed by the manufacturer from whom he does not buy any more?

ANSWER: In the future, to prevent being given the run-around again, insist on all materials and labor being backed by a local firm. I am afraid your recourse is from the firm which warranted the item.

AN EDITORIAL

Folks Ignorant On Narcotics

The illegal use of narcotic drugs is spreading so rapidly that hardly a neighborhood or school remains untouched. Yet President Nixon is undoubtedly quite correct in telling Congress Americans still lack "a national awareness of the gravity of the situation."

As an answer, the President has outlined a stepup in efforts to narrow the sources of illegal narcotics through stiffening of penalties and stricter enforcement of the laws. This is essential, if elementary, but one of the most important phases of his program is its call for an attack on the "ignorance and misinformation" which abound on the use of drugs.

The spreading use of narcotics is evidence that the dangers are not widely understood. Marijuana, for instance, is still being defended in some circles as a harmless source of amusement.

Mr. Nixon has directed the Health, Education and Welfare Department and the attorney general to "gather all authoritative information . . . and to compile a balanced and objective program to bring the facts to every American."

Illusion needs to be separated from reality and the public — especially young people — set straight on the risks involved.

OLD NUMBER ONE, the South San Francisco Fire Department's 1927 model Seagrave pumper, will be sold at public auction August 7. Assistant City Manager Lawrence Ross said bidding on the vintage machine will begin at 2 p.m. at Fire Station Number Two, Harbor and Mitchell Avenue. No bid less than $500 will be considered, and terms of the sale will be cash. Tentative bids may be submitted in advance by delivery in writing to the city manager's office. The truck may be inspected during regular business hours at Station Two. A portion of the cash received for the truck will be used to restore an even older, 1915 model truck, in possession of the fire department, according to city officials.

Preparation of Pacifica 'Riot Control' Policy Directed

By DON GRIERSON

Pacifica councilmen this week instructed City Manager C. W. Masonheimer to prepare a "specific written policy," outlining procedures for the handling of crowds and potential riot situations in the city.

Members of the council requested that a "definite policy" be put into writing at a special meeting Wednesday, after reviewing the minutes of a staff meeting held in the aftermath of a "siege of terror" by members of the Hell's Angels Motorcycle Club July 13 at Linda Mar Beach.

Eight persons, including a young girl, were injured when motorcyclists invaded the beach during an afternoon rock concert.

City Recreation Supervisor Bob Verdeckberg, in charge of the city-sponsored concert, advised Pacifica police to stay clear of the beach area while the motorcycle gang was running rampant, because of the "tense situation." None of the motorcyclists was arrested.

Police Chief Neil Tremaine indicated at the staff meeting that Verdeckberg "probably did the right thing" in view of the circumstances.

Tremaine said that a group of local youths who are "speed freaks, pill rollers and wineheads" would likely have joined forces with the Hell's Angels had police officers converged upon the area.

Officers stated they were not informed of any attacks upon persons at the beach during the periodic checks they made at the beach during the dance concert, and members of the motorcycle gang were already out of town when complaints came to the attention of police.

This, according to the chief, might have been a fortunate circumstance.

"If police had been more aggressive, we might have wound up in a much worse situation," Tremaine said.

During the violent Sunday afternoon, the motorcyclists repeatedly attacked numerous persons, apparently without provocation, and at one point a burly gang member literally

"stomped upon the head" of a 19-year-old girl, Joel DeLeon of San Bruno.

The motorcyclists later terrorized patrons at a Pacific Manor bar, Edgemar Lounge, before being "escorted" to the city limits by Pacifica police and a contingent of more than 50 outside law enforcement officers dispatched to the city from surrounding communities under mutual aid agreements.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Foster's Adolph Elges Creates Sandwich Idea

It was announced by Henry Solomon, president of Foster Lunch System, Ltd., that Adolph Elges, restaurant manager (No. 37, San Francisco), is the creator of a sandwich acclaimed one of the four best sandwich ideas of 1969. It was selected first as one of the "20 Best of the Year" by a group of distinguished judges at Michigan State University. In Chicago, a panel reduced the 20 to 12. Finally, in New York, several food editors selected the Top Four sandwiches. Again Elges placed 4 in the top 20. If he wins, it's a trip around the world prize . . . Nancy Valencia, the organizer who performs Monday through Friday from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Longley's restaurant in San Francisco's Financial District, is a board member of the Kidney Foundation of San Francisco. Currently she is crusading to form a chapter in Marin County, which is where she makes her home . . . San Francisco Press Club's winning Spin and Swim team, captained by Judge Fran McCarty, celebrated its victory with a steak dinner at Lew Lehr's steak house in the Marina District.

The newly remodeled Bruno's in San Mateo is in full swing with many new patrons enjoying the Mediterranean decor created by co-owners Bruno Fava and Pete Petrini. Chef Bruno can do things to Medallions of Beef that you wouldn't believe . . . The musical capers of Bob Lucas at the piano bar is one of the many highlights enjoyed by patrons of the Palo Alto Shirt Tail restaurant. It's a food, drink and fun spot you're sure to enjoy . . . Hotel and food management executive, K. K. Sera, has been named Resident Manager of the new Marriott Inn in Belmont. Formerly assistant manager at the Miyako Hotel in San Francisco's Japanese Cultural and Trade Center, Sera was earlier with the famous Trader Vic's in San Francisco and spent over ten years as a food manager and supervisor for the U.S. Army and Air Force Exchange Service . . . Juan Marichal, star pitcher for the Giants, was a recent diner at the Golden Pavilion in Los Altos, where the "Six Classic Chinese Cuisines" are featured . . . Deluxe luncheons are served daily at Maiden Lane's Iron Horse restaurant, along with gourmet complimentary Hors d'Oeuvres served at the cocktail hour.

Jack Menzie and Chris Vlassis feature gourmet dishes, many varieties of espresso and Continental coffees, exotic teas (Assam, Jasmine, Earl Gray and Oolong) and imported and domestic wines at their Cathedral in Burlingame . . . Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf has many excellent specialties, among them the Rex Sole stuffed with Crab Diablo and served with vegetables and whipped potatoes. You might also try the Fancy French Crepes (also stuffed with crab diablo) . . . Enjoyed a chat with Adrian "Red" Stickney, restaurateur and bakery Midas of the Peninsula, who said that July is not usually a wedding cake month, for some strange reason. "However," he commented, "from the looks of things this year, it's 'June since January' . . . The Vince Licasas are still vacationing on the East Coast and enjoying life. Meanwhile, back at the "ranch," Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant is going at a steady pace, with sons, Tony and Louis, overseeing the busy operation . . . No parking problems at Scotty Campbell's — "in or out." This conveniently located Redwood City restaurant is made to order for comfortable dining. You can't beat the hospitality extended here.

Don't miss the recently formed duo of Eberle and Vaughn currently performing at the Cabana Hyatt House in Palo Alto. Formerly a child prodigy, Herb Eberle plays accordion, piano, trumpet, trombone and vibes. Jackie Vaughn is a "show" drummer who also doubles on trombone, clarinet and accordion. "This is a great act and we're holding it over," reports Bruce L. Locken, general manager of the Cabana Hyatt House . . . Bill Marsh, chef of the Blue Peacock dining room in Kings Bowl, Millbrae, prepares an outstanding menu for hearty appetites (attention, bowlers). On Friday and Saturday evenings, the Fabulous Romanos present lively music for dancing from 9 p.m. . . . There's always a stellar line-up of Mexican entertainers at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa Mexican cantina in North Beach. Luz also takes great pride in offering a fine menu of Mexican dishes at reasonable prices. It's hard to find as economical a night club as the Sinaloa in these days of high inflation . . . Take home your favorite Italian entrees any time during the week at Victor Scafani's Woodlake Joe's. Or dine on the terrace — which is especially pleasant on balmy summer evenings.

A loyal fan of Finocchio's spa of femme impersonators, comedienne Totie Fields, recently appearing on the Merv Griffin TV show, reminisced about the fun audiences enjoy when they ring-side at Finocchio's, one of the most famous clubs of its kind in the world. This Broadway spot has now been operating in one location for nearly 35 years . . . Cool off on these summer afternoons with a refreshing cocktail or cold beer at Duane Eckert's Capt's Cabin on B Street. Sports yarns and casual confabs will put you in a relaxed frame of mind . . . Baron's Lounge organist, Margie Brandon, didn't waste her time when she recently visited the Swiss Alps — she learned to yodel and is flipping the patrons at the Powell Street site by adding a little Nashville twang to it. Sure does make you sit up and listen . . . Live theater has come to Rudolfo's, the Palo Alto steak house. The "Daily News," a new group of players making the scene with satires and sketches on contemporary life, are presented every Friday and Saturday in the restaurant's showroom. The current offering is "The Allegation," which abounds with sharp comedy. The Affinito brothers continue to offer charcoal-broiled steak specialties in the main restaurant.

Banquets In The Banquet Room—Shadows Feature

The Coach & Six in Menlo Park is one of the rave restaurants on El Camino Real. And is it any wonder when you consider what they have to offer, menu-wise and otherwise. If you haven't taken advantage of their English-style Sunday Brunch and very British dinner suggestions, you're overlooking a regal treat . . . When you plan a banquet in the Banquet Room of Dave Rasmussen's Shadows of San Mateo, it's just like "money in the bank." Every party convenience is at your disposal, plus special menus for any occasion . . . Pacifica's Mayor, Nick Gust, who also pilots Nick's restaurant at Rockaway Beach, must have known something when months ago he named his newest restaurant venture The Moonraker. One of the largest crowds to ever invade the coastline dined at The Moonraker over the weekend . . . In this day and wage, whoever hears of a restaurant giving away free cups of coffee. You better believe that's just what is happening at Moars Cafeteria in San Francisco. Scan their advertisement in Bright Lights for particulars.

Dave Rasmussen

The booming Peninsula area is the site chosen by Le Baron Hotels of San Diego for the second link in their growing chain of quality hotels. The 340-room San Francisco Le Baron Hotel, which will offer convention and meeting facilities for groups up to 2,000, is scheduled for an early August opening. Budgeted in excess of $6 million, San Francisco Le Baron will be able to grow to 600 rooms, with a built-in growth capacity of 1,000 rooms. Base of operations for the new chain is the 407-room San Diego Le Baron, located on Hotel Circle in Mission Valley. "By utilizing the combination of low-rise motor inn and high-rise tower," said Le Baron General Manager and Executive Vice President Joseph O. Lampe, "we can give our patrons all of the luxury and service of a high-rise hotel, with all the convenience of a motor hotel." The new San Francisco Le Baron restaurant facilities include the Wharf Room, reminiscent of old San Francisco's heritage, for luncheon or gourmet dining; 24-hour Coffee Shop; music and dancing in the V.I.P. Lounge; and the Library, an exclusive men's bar (complete with bookshelves and ticketette) from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and an intimate cocktail lounge. Manager for the Le Baron in San Francisco is Francisco Almeida.

Chuck Winstead, happy host of Yolanda's Terminal Cafe in South San Francisco, has lost 45 pounds and is shaping up for a "Robert Gates" wardrobe. He says he owes it all to the spa — but with all that delicious food so available — wow . . . Located on picturesque Coast Highway One, just south of Devil's Slide, Torres' Monterey Beach hotel-restaurant is a place you must plan to visit so you can savor the special Peruvian and seafood dishes offered by Frank and Fanny Torres . . . The place to go for fine French cuisine served New Orleans-style is the Chez Michel Room in the Thunderbolt Hotel, Millbrae. Dine and dance to the Cava Combo, featuring vocalist Jo Ann Roe . . . The big, musical sound of The Antics will be heard on Monday, July 28, during an extended engagement at Redwood City's Le Cabaret. On the Hammond organ is Gary Xavier, who doubles on piano and trumpet. Jerry Bell plays the beat on a full set of drums, and Jerry Miller fills in on the bass, congas and bongos. There are three shows nightly, with dancing in between shows. Happy hour starting at 5 p.m. No cover or minimum.

Chuck Winstead

Donald J. Devoto, manager of the Hilton Inn, San Francisco International Airport, has announced a new "Fun-in-the-Sun" weekend special for San Francisco and Peninsula residents. The entire family can rent a room and enjoy the olympic-sized swimming pool for a special family rate Saturday or Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Poolside luncheons also are available . . . Take out orders are also available at Frank's New York - Italian restaurant in Millbrae. From a quart of spaghetti meat sauce to an Italian Salami Sandwich, chef-owner Frank Accardo aims to please. If you're having dinner here tonight, you really should try one of his Friday Specials . . . The Lamp Post Steak House has the answer to your hunger and budget demands. The dinner prices are just $1.59. Yes, dessert and beverages are served, via the la carte price . . . The brother-sister restaurant team of Larry Bertolucci and Lola Bogdan at Bertolucci's South San Francisco restaurant carry on a tradition of serving a menu of Continental recipes handed down since 1928. Preparation is under the supervision of Mama Bertolucci.

CAPTAIN Charles J. Forquer, right, will take charge of construction contracts in San Bruno when he relieves Captain Arthur P. Minwegen in formal ceremonies.

New Commander For San Bruno Naval Facility

Capt. Charles J. Forquer, Civil Engineer Corps (CEC), U.S. Navy, will become the Navy's Resident Officer in Charge of Construction Contracts Pacific (ROCCPac) Thursday when he relieves Capt. Arthur P. Minwegen, CEC, USN, who has held the position since June, 1967.

The change of command ceremony will be held at the Naval Facility in San Bruno, where the ROCCPac offices are located.

Capt. Minwegen served in Vietnam as chief of staff to the deputy commander, Naval Facilities Engineering Command for Southeast Asia from April, 1966, to April, 1967. Capt. Forquer served in the same capacity in Vietnam from March, 1968, to March, 1969.

Capt. Minwegen was born in New York City, and was raised and educated in Chicago. He attended Loyola Academy there, and the Illinois Institute of Technology, from where he received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering. He holds a master's degree in business administration from George Washington University. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Society of American Military Engineers, the American Society of Civil Engineers and the National Society of Professional Engineers.

He began his naval career in August, 1943, and served with the Seabees throughout the Pacific Ocean area during World War II. During his career he also has served at the Naval Hospital, Oakland; in the Marshall Islands; in Spain, at various U.S. stations, and as deputy commander and deputy OIC of the NFEC's Southeast Division at Charleston, S.C.

He and his wife, a former Navy nurse, were married in Oakland in November, 1947. They are the parents of a son, Arthur, 19, and two daughters, Cathy Jean, 15, and Debra Jean, 3. They live at 3358 Shasta Drive, San Mateo.

Capt. Forquer was born in San Francisco, and his mother, Mrs. Frances A. Forquer, resides at 1815 Third Street, Alameda. He was awarded a bachelor's and master's degree in Civil Engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1948, and a master's degree in management from the Navy's Post Graduate School at Monterey, in 1961.

Capt. Forquer enlisted in the Navy in June, 1940, and served aboard a destroyer until he was assigned to attend the U.S. Naval Academy. He graduated from there in 1945, and served at sea on destroyers until September, 1946, when he enrolled at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He has served with Seabee units; and in the Marianas Islands of the Pacific; at several Mainland Navy stations; and at Naval Facilities Engineering Command headquarters in Washington. Prior to going to Saigon in 1968, he was executive officer of the CB Center, Port Hueneme.

Daly City S-DA Attends World Youth Congress

Bruce Oblander of 299 Alta Vista Way, Daly City, attending the July 22 World Youth Congress of Seventh Day Adventists in Zurich, Switzerland, heard a world leader of the denomination declare that "Young people who blow their minds with 'acid' will find no answer to their problems."

The only answer, Oblander and others were told, "is the world's greatest problem solver, Jesus Christ."

The words were those of Theodore Carchich of Washington, D.C., whose keynote address opened a five-day convocation that drew some 20,000 youthful representatives from more than 100 countries.

Carchich is the world vice president of Seventh-Day Adventists.

Firemen Say Blazes Set By Arsonist

Three deliberately set fires on the South San Francisco side of San Bruno Mountain kept state foresters hopping Sunday night.

A spokesman for the Division of Forestry said the fires were "definitely of incendiary origin." An incendiary device, making use of an inflammable liquid, was found at the scene of one of the fires, the spokesman said.

A native of Lucca, Italy, was a member of Sons of Italy Abraham Lincoln Lodge of Half Moon Bay.

Survivors include his wife Eva of Moss Beach; a brother, Louie of Italy; a sister, Mrs. Maria Del Cima of Italy.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 9 a.m. from Du-Rand-Randeman Funeral Home in Half Moon Bay, with requiem mass at Our Lady of the Pillar Catholic Church at 9:30.

SYLVANA PACHECO

Sylvana Pacheco, 70, 936 Sixth Avenue, San Bruno, died Saturday at Peninsula Hospital after an illness.

She was a native of Hawaii, and a local resident 10 years.

Survivors include two brothers, Leonard Branco, Pacifica, and Harry Branco, Hawaii, and seven sisters, Mrs. Mary De-Mello, Mrs. Mini Reis, and Mrs. Dorothy Pico, Hawaii; Mrs. Flora Rodriguez, Mrs. Virginia Ayres, and Mrs. Mabel Mitchell, San Bruno; and Mrs. Lona Williams, Brisbane.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday at 9 a.m. at the San Bruno Funeral Home Chapel, with requiem mass at St. Bruno's Catholic Church at 9:30. The rosary was recited Monday at 8 o'clock at the chapel. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

RAYMOND J. LEAHY

Raymond J. Leahy, of 1 Madrid Court, Millbrae, died Wednesday at Tahoe Park Hospital in Truckee.

He was a native of San Francisco and a member of the Olympic Club.

He was the owner of the R. J. Leahy Company of San Francisco, a metal distributing firm which bore his name for 43 years.

Survivors include his wife, Claire; sons, Raymond J. Leahy Jr., of Daly City; and Charles A. Leahy, of Medford, Ore.; a sister, Mrs. Lillian Mahler, of Berkeley; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday from Crosby-N. Gray Funeral Home at 9:30 thence to St. Dunstan's Catholic Church for a requiem Mass at 10. Entombment was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

LOUISE H. GEERS

Louise H. Geers, 84, of 335 Clifton Road, Pacifica, died Wednesday at Canyon Hospital. A native of St. Louis, Mo., she had lived in this area seven years.

Survivors include her sons, William A. Geers, of Pacifica, and Ferguson B. Geers, of Mountain View; a brother, Frederick Held, of Leavenworth, Kan.; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted on Friday at 1 p.m. at Crosby-N. Gray Funeral Home, Burlingame.

He conjectured that the fires were timed deliberately to harass the fire department because the second and third fires broke out at about the time firemen got back to the station west of Belmont.

The three runs brought the total of grass fires on the mountain to 46 for the season. There were only 40 runs in all of last season.

The first fire broke out at 7:18 p.m. off Hillside Boulevard. Three trucks and eight men were dispatched. The fire, which covered five acres, was doused and firemen returned to the station at 9 o'clock.

The second call came at 10 and one truck and three men were sent back to the mountain. They reported that the fire burned only a spot.

The truck returned to the station at 11 and the next alarm came in five minutes later.

Educator

Found Dead In Apartment

Roy Marks, 47, who resigned as vice principal of Garden Oaks School in East Palo Alto to accept a teaching post in San Bruno Park School District, shot and killed himself in his Millbrae apartment yesterday, the coroner's office reports.

Marks was found dead in his apartment at 512 Richmond Drive about 2:30 p.m. by a friend, Mrs. Lucy Gray, of San Bruno.

The coroner's office reported that Marks had shot himself with a .22 pistol. Notes found at the apartment indicated that Marks was depressed with the way things were going in his life.

It was reported that Mrs. Gray had called the Suicide Prevention Bureau anonymously a week ago to inquire concerning Marks' depression and had been urged to have him contact the organization.

John Minor, superintendent of the Ravenswood School District where Marks had been a vice principal since 1964 and a teacher for nine years before that, said Marks had submitted his resignation shortly before the end of the school year, stating he wanted to get out of administration and back into the classroom. He had accepted a position as teacher in San Bruno beginning in September and had recently moved to Millbrae.

Cucumbers Are a Culinary Breath of Fresh Air

The cucumber is one of man's oldest vegetables, dating back probably 3000 years. Although cucumbers aren't considered especially important nutritionally, they do much to enhance summer meals and quench the thirst on a hot day.

If you're lucky enough to grow your own cucumbers or have access to home grown cucumbers, consider yourself fortunate. If you must depend on the commercially grown vegetable (which is actually a fruit) look for those that are firm to the touch. And since most store-bought cucumbers are covered with a preservative coating of wax, peel or at least score them with the tines of a fork before using them.

Many old time cooks salt cucumber slices, let them stand and then extract the water, a practice that dates back to the time when cucumbers had a bitter flavor. Although the salting and pressing are no longer necessary with today's non-bitter cucumbers, the practice continues if for no other reason than to render the cucumbers less watery. Cucumbers for salads are less watery if they are sliced lengthwise and the seedy section scooped out.

Put cucumbers in salads and make cucumber salads including the Cucumber Salad offered here, but don't overlook the many other ways to add a breath of fresh air to meals, as suggested in the recipes for Chicken Sandwich Filling, Columbian Relish, Tomato Cucumber Dressing and cold Gazpacho Soup as served at La Ponda Del Sol in New York City.

SOUR CREAM CUCUMBER SALAD
1 cup dairy sour cream
One-third cup corn oil
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons dill weed
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
3 to 4 cucumbers
Western iceberg lettuce
Mix together sour cream, corn oil, lemon juice, dill weed, sugar, salt and pepper. Chill. Peel cucumbers; slice in half lengthwise, scoop out seedy center and slice crosswise. Serve with lettuce wedges and sour cream dressing. Makes 3 to 4 salads.

Try Creamed Chicken Tarragon

When your husband brings home an unexpected guest, you'll feel no anxiety when you have some cooked chicken in the freezer and a can of condensed cream of chicken soup on the shelf.

Cook celery and onion in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. 4 to 6 servings.

QUICK TIPS:

¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
¼ cup finely chopped cooked green beans
1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
¼ cup finely chopped peeled cucumber
Mix together oil, vinegar and sugar. Add onion, green pepper, beans, pimiento and cucumber. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Drain slightly to use as a relish, or serve as a salad dressing on mixed greens. Makes 1½ cups.

TOMATO CUCUMBER DRESSING
1 cup real mayonnaise
½ cup drained, diced tomato
¼ cup diced peeled cucumber
1 teaspoon minced onion
Salt
Mix together mayonnaise, tomato, cucumber, onion and salt. Chill. Makes 2 cups.

GAZPACHO SOUP

2½ cups tomato juice
1 cup corn oil
3 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon oregano leaves
¼ teaspoon basil leaves
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Garlic croutons
Set aside ¼ cup each of pepper, cucumber, tomato and onion. Mix remaining chopped vegetables and garlic in a large container. Mix together 1 cup tomato juice, ½ cup corn oil, salt, oregano leaves, basil leaves, wine vinegar and Tabasco; pour over chopped vegetables. Marinate vegetable mixture in refrigerator 2 hours. Pour into blender, filling the container to the highest level given in the manufacturer's directions. Blend at high speed about 15 seconds or until vegetables are finely minced. Pour mixture into strainer over a large bowl, draining well and pressing the bulk against the side of the strainer with a spoon. Repeat until all vegetables are blended and strained. Stir the remaining 1½ cups tomato juice, ½ cup corn oil and lemon juice into the soup. Chill. (Soup will thicken.) To serve, garnish with reserved chopped vegetables and garlic croutons. Makes about 2 quarts. Gazpacho keeps well in refrigerator several days.

Scallops Are Deep Sea Treat With an Ages-Old History

One of the most precious foods to come out of the sea is the scallop. Although it may be a new discovery to many young Americans, in geological history the scallop goes back about 280,000,000 years as documented by the fossilized remains of shells found by paleontologists throughout the world. Proof that primitive man in many parts of the world ate the scallop lies in the empty shells that are constantly being excavated from the kitchen-middens of early cultures.

Anyone who questions the popularity of scallops today should visit the New Bedford Seafood Festival held each August in New Bedford, Massachusetts at the Marine Park where thousands of scallop devotees flock.

At the twelfth annual Seafood Festival this year, flounder fillets will share the limelight with the sea scallop and the dinners served include both the fish fillet and the scallop fried and served side by side. The festival is sponsored by the fishing industry and the local Exchange Club.

Although everyone at the festival eats and enjoys fried scallops they don't go away without learning that scallops are as versatile as they are revered.

Along with an unusual recipe for fried scallops are two additional scallop classics. One is Scallops Au Gratin, good whatever the fish and Seville, a dish that has jumped in popularity in recent years. For Seville, raw scallops are "cooked" overnight in the refrigerator by the acid in a marinade. Don't let anyone tell you they aren't delicious. Try them for yourself.

Scallops Au Gratin
1 pound fresh or frozen sea scallops
1/4 cup corn oil
1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced

2 tablespoons corn oil
2 tablespoons corn starch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon diced pimiento
1 tablespoon sherry, optional
2 cups milk
1/4 cup bread crumbs
1/4 cup grated cheese
Rinse scallops, removing any pieces of shell. Cut into cubes.

Pour the 1/4 cup of corn oil into a medium size saucepan, add mushrooms and saute slowly over low heat until tender. Remove mushrooms; set aside. In same saucepan, blend together the 2 tablespoons corn oil, corn starch, salt, dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce and white pepper. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add scallops, mushrooms, pimiento and sherry to the sauce. Pour mixture into lightly greased baking dishes or 1 1/2 quart casserole. Sprinkle bread crumbs around edges and top with cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes for individual servings; 20 to 25 minutes for casserole. Serve hot. Makes 4 to 6 main dish servings or 8 to 10 appetizer servings.

Fried Scallops
1 pint (1 pound) fresh or frozen sea scallops
1/2 cup flour
1 cup real mayonnaise
1 cup soda cracker crumbs or fine dry bread crumbs
corn oil, for frying (about 1 quart)

Cut large scallops in half. Roll in flour, dip in mayonnaise until evenly coated, then roll in cracker crumbs. Pour corn oil into sturdy, flat bottomed kettle or deep fryer, filling utensil one third full. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees F., or until 1-inch cube of bread turns brown in 40 seconds. Fry scallops in hot oil until golden brown, 2 to 3 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 4 to 5 main dish servings or 8 to 10 appetizer servings.

NOTE: To serve as hors d'oeuvres cut into smaller uniform pieces. Fry as above and serve with picks.

Citrus Marinated Scallops
Seville de Marisco
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice (about 4 lemons)
1/4 cup fresh lime juice (about 6 limes)
1/2 pound sea scallops, cut in 1/4-inch slices or cubes
2 tablespoons corn oil
1 small red onion, thinly sliced
1/2 cup thin red pepper strips
1/2 cup thin green pepper strips teaspoon chopped fresh coriander or 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Iceberg lettuce cups
1 small hot chili pepper, sliced

Pour lemon and lime juice over scallops; marinate in refrigerator overnight. Add corn oil, onion, red and green pepper, and coriander or parsley. Toss lightly. Serve in lettuce cups. Garnish with hot chili pepper. Makes about 6 appetizer salad servings.

Stuffed And Baked Pork Chops Tasty

Pork chops with a delicious stuffing — and so elegant looking!

Stuffed Baked Pork Chops
Potatoes Green Beans
Salad Bowl Hot Biscuits
Lemon Angel Pie

STUFFED BAKED PORK CHOPS
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup minced onion
1/4 cup minced celery
2 medium apples, pared and finely diced (about 1 1/2 cups)
1/4 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Salt
6 double center — cut loin pork chops (1 1/4 inches thick with pockets)
Pepper and paprika

In an 8-inch skillet in the hot butter over low heat, cook onion and celery about 5 minutes. Add apples and raisins and cook another 5 minutes; remove from heat. Mix in bread crumbs and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stuff into pork chops; close pockets with toothpicks. Arrange chops in shallow baking pan (13 by 9 by 2 inches); sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Bake in a 350-degree oven until cooked through — about 1 1/4 hours. Remove picks. Makes 6 servings.

Casserole Meets Your Time Budget

When off the shelf and into the casserole is your theme song, there's nothing that meets the time budget more easily than this main dish.

Can opening skill and simple cutting of the luncheon meat is really all that's necessary, says a home economist with the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Cupboard Shelf Combo
1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat, cut in 1/4-inch cubes
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas and carrots, cooked or 1 can (16 ounces) peas and carrots, drained
1-3 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Combine meat with tomato soup, mushroom stems and pieces, onion, mustard, oregano and pepper. Stir in peas and carrots. Bake in a lightly greased, 1 1/2-quart casserole in a moderate oven 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 10 minutes longer. 4 servings.

Split Vote in D.C. On Teaching 'Controversy'

Trustees of Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District July 22 rejected a proposed revision of district policy regarding the teaching of "controversial issues" by a split 3-2 vote.

The policy revisions, proposed by the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association Policy Committee, would have stipulated that parents and other "complainants" dissatisfied with the work or methods of specific principals or teachers take their complaints first to the offending staff member, instead of directly to the superintendent or board members.

Under existing policy, persons with complaints against individual teachers or principals may go directly to the board or superintendent.

several months ago when parents complained to the board and superintendent about a sex education class conducted by the teacher.

According to the JCTA spokesman, the teacher was "placed on trial without having an opportunity to face his accusers."

The proposed revision, according to Assistant Superintendent Dr. Vinton Stratton, would have "given the accused an opportunity to face his accusers in the traditional American fashion."

However, Trustee Ed Tomasello and some other board members maintained the policy revision would have the effect of "sending the complaining person back to the person who antagonized him in the first place."

Tomasello, who made the motion to reject the policy revision, said he could "see nothing wrong" with the existing policy.

Joan Hemphill, president of the JCTA, said the board's decision in effect "encourages people to go over the heads of the teachers and principals in the district."

Voting against rejection of the proposed policy revision were Trustee William Schumacher, who sat with the committee formulating the revision, and newly-elected Trustee Dorothy Adams.

"This proposal would simply have provided that complainants go to the teacher or principal offending them before taking the issue to the board or superintendent," Schumacher said.

"I personally feel some clarification in this area is needed." After voting down the proposal, trustees instructed Superintendent Frank Greenwood to prepare another report providing specific guidelines for the teaching of family life education and other "controversial issues."

Jefferson El Wants Two Buses Back

Members of Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District Board indicated last week they might become "Indian givers" in regard to two buses the elementary district gave to the Jefferson Union High School District five years ago.

According to JESD Supt. Frank Greenwood, the elementary district transferred ownership of the buses to the high school district after studies indicated the elementary district could save money under a lease arrangement with Greyhound.

In return for the two buses, the high school district provides transportation for special occasions such as field trips for the elementary district.

"It appears we are giving the high school district two buses in exchange for just occasional field trips in return," Trustee Ed Tomasello said.

Trustee William Schumacher suggested that the elementary district should sell the buses to the high school district, rather than make them a "gift."

Board members ordered administrators to prepare a report on the value of the buses.

According to Board Chairman Joseph Lewkowicz, the two vehicles in question are more than ten years old.

Spadarella Appointed

Chairman Frank Spadarella of Daly City and four other members of the San Mateo County Human Relations Commission have been appointed to new terms by the County Board of Supervisors.

Spadarella has been chairman since the commission was formed in September of 1968.

Others re-appointed were Mrs. Phyllis Blum of Portola Valley, Mrs. Harryette Rucker of San Mateo, David J. Friedenberg of South San Francisco and Dr. Robert Bullock of San Mateo.

He has written frequently for periodicals in the fields of theology, philosophy, counseling, and social welfare. He is the author of Emotional Problems and The Bible.

The title of his Sunday morning sermon is to be "The God Of The Dialogue."

D.C. Planners Reverse Westbrae Decision

By FRANK LAPIERRE
The Daly City Planning Commission has apparently changed its mind about development of a three-plus acre parcel of land at the stub end of Westbrae Avenue situated on a cliff high above the ocean.

For more than three years, one developer after another has appeared before the five-member commission and each has been denied a variance on the property and permission to build.

This stand was maintained until Philip B. Wallace came before the commission last month and asked for a variance to rezone the area from R-1 (residential) to R-3 (multiple units).

The commission rejected the request and routinely sent the matter on to the city council.

Wallace took his plane before the council and in a 4-1 split decision the city council decided to send the matter back to the commission for "further study."

But the commission lacked a quorum when Wallace came before it last Tuesday and all pending business was shelved for a week.

Last night, item ZC68-7 was again presented to the commission with a few modifications: Four apartment houses each four stories high; underground parking and a swimming pool. After 20 minutes of deliberation, which included a five-minute "recess" when four commission members retired to a small room in the rear of the commission chambers, it was decided to ask Wallace to "withdraw" his application, leaving the door wide open for him to resubmit the plans under another designation—perhaps a (planned development) zoning or S-1 (special). This would give the city

"more control" over the development the commission explained.

Most of Tuesday night's conversation regarding the parcel centered around its instability inasmuch as it is situated adjacent to the San Andreas Fault, which rocked the ocean front severely in 1958, causing roads to cave in and homes to slide.

"The question is: Can we commit 300 people to live on that site," Taylor asked early in the meeting.

Wallace replied that the structures would be built back some 30 feet from the cliff face and that soils engineers (Woodward, Clyde and Associates) felt the area was stable and, in fact, development would add to this stability.

A June, 1967, soils report was pulled out and read to the commission which pointed out there was no evidence of movement in the area either during the 1906 or 1958 earthquakes.

Westlake Improvement Association vice-president Howard Garden present at the meeting, said his group was of the opinion that if any contrary action (to that earlier taken by the board) was taken another public hearing would be held.

Garden said his powerful homeowners group would then present an "aggressive" course of action to block construction of the apartments.

Although Wallace agreed to withdraw his application, he is expected to resubmit it under another title within the month.

Immediately prior to the recess, which incoming City Mgr. David Rowe claimed no business was discussed and therefore the get-together was not considered a violation of the Brown Act (which stipulates a quorum of public officials may not meet to discuss pending matters), Commissioner Leonard Brown, a veteran member of the board, moved to deny the matter.

He wavered in his stand and said he too favored "doing something" with the windswept cliff site providing the city had tight control over construction.

Board Chairman Melvin Taylor likewise stated he would "like to see the property developed" because it was starting to look disreputable with trash and weeds littering the property.

The history of the site goes back to when Developer Henry Doelger sold the land to the Methodist Church.

Since then the property has changed hands several times and numerous proposals for its development have been made to the city, including a church, convalescent home, and currently apartment buildings.

Each time the requests have been rejected primarily because of the instability of the area and the traffic that would be generated onto surrounding residential streets.
